CARNEGIE'S METHODS ARE AT LAST LAID BARE TO THE GAZE OF FAVORED FEW

His Former Private Secretary Issues a Costly Edition of Inside Facts of the Big Steel Company.

SECRETS OF THE FRICK QUARREL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, August 8.

In a review of the "History of the Carnegie Steel Company," the Herald this morning uses the following excerpt from the work and gives this introduction, in the style of a book review, of what is considered a most remarkable expose of the mammoth steel concern and the methods of the man whose name the company bears:

"No great business has yet been built upon the beatitudes, and it is not all cynicism that condenses a negative decalogue into a positive exhortation to be successful—somehow."

The above is from the introduction for the "History of the Carnegie Steel Company," by its author, James Howard Bridge. The work, in most elaborate style, has just been brought out for private circulation. It it is a labor of love, it is made certain that Mr. Andrew Carnegie is not the sole object of Mr. Bridge's affections. Through some 370 octavo pages the theme runs along without variation, "the successful—somehow," and in its application to Mr. Carnegie some very unpleasant material is presented. The action of the "iron master" toward his associates, particularly H. C. Frick, through whom, as the work says, "success was achieved, somehow," discloses some curious ideas of business morality.

Sensation of the Steel.

Wall street has experienced a veritable sensation in the appearance of Mr. Bridge's book. Copies of it have appeared on the tables of banks and bankers' offices, from quarters unknown. It is a book which must have cost thousands of dollars to prepare, full levant morocco bound, made of beautiful Japanese paper, copiously illustrated with photographure plates, and in the highest style of the printers' art. The first edition is said to have been limited to 50 copies at $100 each, and a second edition de luxe to 450 copies, at a cost of about $25.

To find such rare and beautiful books, in some cases donations to him, has surprised even Wall street bankers. Surprise has given way to amazement, as in turning its pages the readers have found all sorts of sensations staring them in the face. The innermost secrets of the Carnegie Steel Company stand revealed to the light of day. Every detail of the bitter quarrel between Mr. Carnegie on one side and Henry Phipps and H. C. Frick on the other are spread out for public view, backed by documentary evidence, copies of confidential documents, trade secrets, cost of production and the like.

Mr. Bridge, the author of the book, was once private secretary of Mr. Carnegie. That he writes with a strong bias is evident from the very introduction. In the beginning of his search for material he says:

Where He Ignores Carnegie.

"I found Andrew Carnegie's own narrative the least trustworthy of all."

He follows this up with a dedication: "To recall their forgotten services. This history of a great business is dedicated to the memory of the men who founded it, saved it from early disaster, and won its first successes."

Andrew Carnegie's name is not included in the list. Mr. Bridge's history of the Carnegie company dates back to 1858, when Andrew Kloman started a small forge at Girty's Run, in Millvale. He traces the company step by step down to the time that it passed to the United States Steel Corporation.

The work done by Mr. Frick during the Homestead strike forms an important part of the work. The author draws a strong contrast between Mr. Frick fighting the battle of the company, beset by assassins, harassed by political influence and the like, and Mr. Carnegie fishing for salmon or playing golf at Skibo castle. As a result of the strike, the credit of winning which is given to Mr. Frick, the work says:

"It is believed by the Carnegie officials, and with some show of reason, that this magnificent record was to a great extent made possible by the company's victory at Homestead. From that time on the firm profited by the heavy investments it had made in labor-saving machinery; and costs got so low that one year when the Carnegies made over $4,000,000, their chief competitor, the Illinois Steel Company, had upward of $1,000,000 loss. The following year the Carnegies made over $5,000,000, while the Chicago company made only $360,000. By 1897 the cost of steel rails on cars at the Braddock mill was only $8.12 a gross ton."

Frick's the Guiding Hand.

Coming down to the attempts made from time to time to sell the Carnegie works, Mr. Bridge says:

"Ten years have elapsed since the failure of the attempt to sell the works to English investors, new schemes of a like character were made in 1899. For a long time past Mr. Carnegie had lived principally abroad and Mr. Phipps had withdrawn from active participation in the affairs of the company. Mr. Frick's had been the guiding hand that had led the concern to a prosperity surpassing the dreams of the most sanguine of his colleagues, and in all plans for the future his continued leadership seemed a necessity."

"But Carnegie was loath to resign in favor of one whose prominence threatened to overshadow his own, and the plans he made for his final withdrawal invariably included the simultaneous resignation of Frick. And Frick, full of energy and not yet 50 years of age, had no thought of resigning. So that the plans never got beyond the nebulous stage, until the shock of litigation forced them into some degree of definiteness."

The Celebrated Quarrel.

Chapter XX. of the history of the Carnegie Steel Company is headed "Carnegie's Attempt to Depose Frick." It starts as follows:

"In chemical experiments it often happens that before the process of crystallization can be started in a saturated solution a blow must be given to the vessel containing it. This was evidently the condition of the ideas that had long been floating in and out of the minds of the partners concerning consolidation and reorganization. It required the shock of a rupture between Carnegie and Frick to jar the fluid schemes into solidity, and, in conformity with the run of 40 years of uninterrupted Carnegie luck, this shock, which threatened at first to have a shattering effect, further welded the corporate interests, doubled the already enormous wealth of the principal partners and made the little ones all millionaires.

"The cause of the disagreement between Carnegie and Frick that had most influence in producing the final rupture was a diversion of views they held concerning the price the steel company should pay for coke. While Carnegie controlled the majority of the coke company's stock, through his personal holdings and those of the firm, there were a few outside shareholders, whose intent it was that the steel company should pay the full market price for its fuel; and to protect these minority stockholders, Frick always made as good a contract as he could with the steel company.

Tires of the Threats.

"Carnegie, on the other hand, wishful to keep all costs down, tried to obtain specially low rates on coke for his firm. This matter eventually brought about the final rupture.

"Mr. Frick was exceedingly bitter over the alleged hard bargains driven by Mr. Carnegie as to the price of coke, the alleged threats of Mr. Carnegie to build coke ovens of his own, and the like, and more than anything else on a charge made by Mr. Carnegie that Mr. Frick had acquired a piece of property in order to exact a profit from its eventual sale.

"Mr. Frick, on November 20, 1899, caused to be read at a directors' meeting of the Carnegie company and spread on the minutes his views on the subject, of which the following is an extract:

"The Frick Company has always been used as a convenience. The records will show that its credit has always been lavishly used for the steel company, and is today, to the extent of at least $6,000,000. The value of our coke properties, for over a year has been, at every opportunity, depreciated by Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Lauder, and I submit that it is not unreasonable that I have considerable feeling on this subject. He also threatened, I am told, that if low prices did not prevail or something was not done, he would buy 20,000 acres of Washington run coal and build coke ovens. That is to say, he threatened, if the minority stockholders would not give their share of the coke to the steel company at about cost, he would attempt to ruin them.

"He also stated, I am told, while here, that he had purchased that land from me above Peter's Creek. That he had agreed to pay the market price, although he had his doubts as to whether I had any right, while chairman of the board of managers of the Carnegie Steel Company, to make such a purchase. He knows how matters proceeded in that land, because I told him in your presence the other day. Why was he not manly enough to say to my face what he said behind my back? He knew that he had no right to say what he did.

"Now, before the steel company becomes the owner of that land he must apologize for that statement. I at first became interested in that land, as I told you, through trading a lot in Shadyside that I had owned for years. The land is six miles away from any land owned by the Carnegie Steel Company. The steel company does not need it now and will not need it for a long time in the future, if at all. But, of course, if they owned it, it might keep another large works from being built or enable the steel company to go into competition with other large industries.

Mr. Frick resigned from the Carnegie Company on December 5, 1899, but did

HO, FOR THE SUMMER RESORT.

COURT DECIDES HE IS INSANE

George A. Madden Placed in an Asylum for Writing Love Letters.

ADDRESSED TO MISS GOULD

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.

George A. Madden, well known to many Pittsburghers, who for some time past has been in the habit of writing love letters to Miss Helen Gould, was committed to the Long Island State Hospital for the Insane this morning by Judge Aspinall upon the recommendation of Drs. J. O'Connell and Sydney D. Wilgus. Madden was taken before Judge Connerton in Long Island City on Friday last for threatening the life of his niece, and he was then sent for examination to the Flatbush hospital.

The principal hallucination with which Madden is afflicted is the belief that Miss Gould is deeply in love with him and that he is about to be married to her. Among the papers he carried and which were made part of the proceedings was the following article, evidently intended for publication, as it contained an account of the marriage between himself and Miss Gould:

As is well known in her circle of acquaintances, Miss Gould has believed that she would some day meet her ideal, she having frequently stated so to many, but no one imagined or suspected that Mr. Madden was the fortunate holder of the key which unlocked the gem of the pure heart of the bride. The fact is that neither Miss Gould nor Mr. Madden had ever seen each other in their true light until the afternoon preceding the ceremony. The couple will sail for Europe in a day or two.

The betrothal ring is on the smaller finger of my left hand, but it is still in H. O. C. But it will be yours. The power that moves has moved well unto the hour which is here. Tarry not, for all is over in this, the beginning of the ending of the first lesson to the world of worlds. By order of the king, you are commanded by word of love to prepare for the reunion of the soul. Fear not any wrath or fury. The God lives and rules in the blue for ages. O beloved, come, I kiss thy brow and salute thee. Though I be meek and lowly, like thee I love, love, I love.—H. G. Yours forever. GEORGE.

PHIPPS HELPS FORM RIVAL STEEL CONCERN

Pittsburgher Interested in Competitor to Colorado Fuel & Iron Company.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Denver, Col., Aug. 7.—The Denver Post claims authority for the statement, which it gives great prominence, that Lawrence Phipps of Pittsburgh and Denver is heavily interested along with John C. Osgood and others, who have lost control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, in the Frontier Steel Company. This company has been organized on a large scale by David H. Moffat, who is building the Denver, Salt Lake shore line, and is projected to be a formidable rival of the big Colorado company.

Mr. Moffat has not said who is associated with him, but remarks confidently that when the vast deposits of iron and coal in northwestern Colorado are opened by his railroad, there will be plenty of capital for the new steel company. It is claimed by the Post that Mr. Phipps and the Osgood faction of the rival concern are to furnish the funds.

DESPERADO FATALLY SHOT AND CAPTURED

Negro Highwayman Put Wabash Camp in Terror, Robbing His Victims of $400.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—James Brown, who is rated as a bad negro, filled up with a quart of whisky and terrorized camp No. 48 on the Wabash railroad construction work. Everybody he held up disgorged their money and he got away with over $400. A Hoff, a blacksmith, when held up made an excuse, eluded the negro and secured his Winchester rifle.

He followed Brown, and while the latter was holding up C. K. Goodelle, the master mechanic, Hoff kneeled and fired a bullet which passed through Brown's body, fatally wounding him. After he was shot other men in the camp wanted to hang Brown, but Hoff stood guard with his rifle and prevented it. Brown was brought to Steubenville by and armed guard.

J. C. THAW TO WED.

Announcement of Engagement of Countess of Yarmouth's Brother to Michigan Belle.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—A special from Port Huron, Mich., says the engagement of Miss Mary Harrington Thomson, daughter of John Thomson, a prominent and wealthy citizen of that city to Joseph Copley Thaw of Pittsburgh was announced today. Miss Thomson is a beautiful brunette, a belle of the last two seasons. The announcement of the engagement has caused much excitement in Port Huron society circles, as Miss Thomson is very popular in the most exclusive set and has many admirers.

It was thought that a well-known young Detroit millionaire had found favor in Miss Thomson's eyes, and only recently there were whispers that the popular belle had accepted him. Miss Thomson is well and favorably known in the best circles of Chicago society and the announcement that she is to wed a brother of the countess of Yarmouth has created quite a stir.

Postmaster Charged With Liquor Selling.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 7.—(Special.) Postmaster J. A. McCormick of Shady Springs, Raleigh county, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Marshal Cunningham on the charge of selling liquor illegally. The accused was taken before United States Commissioner Dunn at Beckley for a hearing. He waived examination.

Big Steamer Reported Ashore.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—A steamer, the Algerine, which arrived at Sydney today from St. Pierre, reports a large steamer ashore on Cape Roach, New Foundland, the name of which could not be ascertained.

PLACE A FILTER IN EVERY HOUSE

Director Moore Says This Should Be Made Compulsory Upon All Citizens.

TYPHOID FEVER STILL RAGES

Fifteen new cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday to the Pittsburgh bureau of health.

"Until the city is able to get a plant to filter its water there is only one salvation for the people, and that is for each family to buy a private filter," said Public Safety Director Moore yesterday. There is no signs of abatement of typhoid, and the disease is bound to keep up through the summer. The water is in such condition that it is not safe to drink it. I would recommend that every family get a filter, and I do not think it would be a bad idea for councils to pass an ordinance requiring every family to get a filter until the city has a filtration plant in operation.

"The number of new cases of typhoid is startling. Some days there are less than others, but the disease is bound to get worse unless extraordinary precautions are taken to guard against it. Water should be both boiled and filtered, and then it would be in pretty good condition for drinking purposes."

There is little prospect of a meeting of the special filtration committee of councils before week after next, and possibly not until later. It was stated yesterday at the city hall that Director E. M. Bigelow would not be home until the middle of next week, and probably his return would be further postponed. Until the director returns Councilman J. P. Sterret will not call a meeting of the committee.

Joseph C. Armstrong is expected to return the latter part of next week from Michigan, and will probably be here to participate in the organization of the committee.

It is the intention of the sand filtration members of the committe to elect Councilman Sankey chairman. Being from the South Side he will be interested in having his district provided for, and being a strong sand filtration advocate, he will insist upon the committee keeping within the instructions of councils. He will oppose any effort to introduce the mechanical scheme into the committee.

RUSSIAN RIOTS CONTINUE

Many Workmen Killed or Wounded in Conflict With Cossacks.

KIEFF, RUSSIA, Aug. 7.—Three workmen were killed and 24 wounded yesterday when the cossacks fired on and charged the strikers who were attempting to interfere with railroad traffic. The rioters numbered 2,000. The disturbances were renewed today, the strikers parading the town, breaking windows, invading workshops and compelling workmen to join them. The cossacks fired upon a crowd on the bank of the Dnieper after they had been assaulted with a shower of stones. Several were wounded.

Big Department Store Company.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 7.—The Cash Buyers Union First National Co-operative Society, authorized capital $5,000,000, was incorporated today to conduct department stores and to transact kindred business. The capital stock is divided into shares of $10 each. The papers were filed by James B. Dill and the opinion is that the company has for its purpose the acquiring of large department stores throughout the country.

Pittsburgher Elected Secretary.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7.—The National Jobbing Confectioners association elected officers today as follows: President, D. L. Morgan, Scranton, Pa., vice president, G. A. Dornberger, Buffalo, and G. W. Cowles, Philadelphia; secretary, D. E. Alcorn, Pittsburgh; treasurer, J. Martin Miller, Philadelphia. Louisville was chosen for the next convention.

FERDINAND IS WATCHED

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Vienna, Aug. 7.—There are two important developments in the Macedonian situation today. One is the report that Prince Ferdinand shortly will return to Sofia; the other is that Boris Sarafoff is in command of the revolutionary forces in Monastir.

The return of Prince Ferdinand, if, in fact, he does return, is regarded here as unfortunate at this juncture and may have the effect of precipitating matters at the Bulgarian capital. That his people are anxious for war is certain, and that he will try to restrain them is apparently equally certain. This conflict may mean open revolt against Ferdinand and either his flight or assassination not very long after his return. It is certain if Sarafoff concludes that the assassination of Ferdinand is necessary to bring Bulgaria into line with the revolution, he was not hesitate to order it, and he has agents enough in Sofia to see that his orders are carried out.

Life Dedicated to Revenge.

Sarafoff is one of the most remarkable characters in Europe today. He is a young man, not much over 30 years old, but for the last eight years he has been a thorn in the flesh of the Turkish government, and to his fierce hatred of the Turk and determination to shake the modern yoke from his native land, the unrest in the Balkans is largely, if not entirely, due. When he was a lad of 5 he saw his father and mother arrested and tortured by Bashi-Bazouks. Ten years later they were again torn from him, tortured and banished to Asia Minor without trial.

He then determined to devote his life to fighting the Turks. His whole education has been devoted to fitting himself to this task, with what success the history of Macedonia for the past eight years tells. He is a trained soldier, a natural leader of guerrillas and knows every mountain pass in Macedonia.

In his methods he is absolutely merciless when he seeks the freedom of Macedonia is involved. The man who is not actively for him in the fight is against him and in his innumerable raids is treated as the Turks do. In the impending war there will be no neutrals in Macedonia.

Fighting With Fire.

Sarafoff's first act of hostility against Turkey was in 1895, when with 80 men he captured the Turkish town of Monetik, destroyed the government buildings and killed more than half the garrison and disappeared. Since then he has been always active employing against the Turks the same tactics as they used. In 1899 he was put at the head of the Macedonian revolutionary committee.

It is generally understood that it was by his orders that Miss Ellen Stone, the American missionary, was captured and held for ransom, and the money paid for her release went to swell the revolutionary funds.

With Sarafoff in command of the revolutionary forces there will be constant action, and while there is little likelihood that the Turkish troops will be called to fight any big battles for a time, at least, they will find plenty with which to occupy themselves. It is reported here that Turkey has been informed by the powers that the plan to flood Macedonia with Albanians and to inaugurate a general system of slaughter must be abandoned; that Europe will not stand for massacres.

All reports from Monastir agree that the inhabitants are in a state of terror and are fleeing to the mountains. They dread Sarafoff and his men, almost as much as they do the Turkish troops. Stories of outrages committed by both sides are frequent and apparently are well authenticated.

The porte who, it is said, is in a position to place about 8,000 men in the field has issued a proclamation in which he signifies his intention of holding the various provinces responsible to the Kurdish excesses. This, however, has had little effect and four battalions of troops supported by artillery yesterday met and routed a boty of 1,700 Bulgarians near Sorovitch. The insurgents have burned the great fodder depots at Shatsuli, Ayd rill and Harmandli.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—Orders were issued yesterday for the expulsion from Finland of Baron von Trail, Michael Linden, chairman of the city council of Ekenaes; Count Gustav Kreitz and his family of seven, and some other prominent Finlanders.

MAY MOULD A BRICK FOR HIM

Indication That Democrats Are Preparing to Fool Bigelow.

JUST A FLIRTATION

Scheme Seems to Be a Plan to Arrange Fusion With Party Through Stevenson.

BRENNEN IS GIVEN MORE TIME

W. J. Brennen has secured an extension of time. He now has until Wednesday to confer with himself on the district attorney nomination. The delay is sanctioned by the Democratic leaders and by Thomas S. Bigelow. In the meantime all fusion plans are supposed to be on the shelf.

By agreeing to this delay it is possible that Bigelow is getting a brick, if he really does want to fuse with the Democrats. Councilman W. H. Stevenson is expected to return to the city next week. Immediately following his home-coming a new party is promised. It is to be an offshoot of the Citizens and is supposed to contain all of the real reformers who have been allied with Bigelow. The first duty is to appoint a committee empowered to confer or fuse with the Democrats. These facts are known to the men behind Brennen and most of them want him to cast his fortunes with the new party rather than with Bigelow's faction. By delaying his answer until Wednesday, time is given the Stevenson crowd to prepare an offer of the district attorney nomination to Brennen. If he follows the wishes of the majority of Democratic leaders he has been conferring with, a speedy acceptance will result and Bigelow will not be given an opportunity to fuse with the Democrats.

What Brennen Is Doing.

Brennen has two questions to solve before his conference adjourns sine die on Wednesday. The first problem is whether or not he wants to be a candidate for district attorney. If he settles this in the affirmative then it is necessary for him to determine on what ticket he will submit his candidacy to the people.

If Brennen decides that fusion with Bigelow's Citizens party is the thing to do, there will be trouble among the men classed as the Democratic leaders. A majority of them have figured to their own satisfaction that it will be more popular to fight Bigelow this fall than to hitch up with him. Bigelow, as a practical politician, considers the city and county pay roll as a valuable asset, and it is said to be difficult for him to see where the Stevenson faction has so much to offer as the wing controlled by Bigelow and Mayor Hays. He is being told that the Republicans had the city and county pay rolls and they were defeated. Many of his advisers insist that Bigelow's popularity as a reform leader has suffered greatly, and that he will be unable to deliver a large percentage of the Citizen vote. If Brennen decides to become a straight Democratic candidate, with the indorsement of the Stevenson party, his faction generally will be delighted. If he refuses to go into the fight at all, there will have to be a new lot of plans made by the Democrats, but the likelihood of such a decision does not appear to have been considered.

Citizens Sure to Split.

It is stated positively that men like Stevenson in the Citizens party are determined to break away from Bigelow. No matter what happens they are to have a ticket. Inquiry as to what would happen if Clark's Democratic finance committee made a deal with Bigelow against the protest of those leaders of the party who are now counseling Brennen to keep away from the Citizens outshine, elicited the information that there would be a break in the Democratic ranks. Effort would be made to get the Democrats generally to vote the ticket put forward by Stevenson and the municipal league crowd.

In order to get prompt action next week, it is expected that Stevenson will request the municipal league to name the committee to confer with the Democrats. The plan is to give the Democrats the district attorney nomination and independent Republicans will be named as candidates for sheriff and prothonotary. The formation of the new party is to come later, or it may be decided to use the Municipal league title. The Democrats, who are daily conferring with Brennen, are thoroughly conversant with all of these plans. While they will not say what Brennen intends to do, and Brennen says that he does not know, the familiarity with the anti-Bigelow plans would indicate that the delay until Wednesday is simply a plan to give the Stevenson crowd an opportunity to get ready to do business.

Senator M. S. Quay is expected to spend the greater part of today in Pittsburgh.

BRAZIL IS WARNED TO BEWARE OF KAISER

RIO JANEIRO, BRAZIL, August 7.—(Special Cable.)—While discussing naval estimates in the chamber of deputies Thomas Cavalcante warned the members of the possibility of foreign aggression, and pleaded that Brazil should place herself in a position to oppose the attacks of an European country. Particular stress was placed on the danger of aggression by Germany, and the deputy urged that Brazil build up a navy to oppose any scheme that the kaiser may have in acquiring a foothold in Brazil.

KILLED HER HUSBAND; REMORSE CAUSES DEATH

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. John Fitzpatrick died today as the result of worry over the killing of her husband by her about a year ago at Mingo Junction. He was drunk and was beating her on the floor when she seized a knife and stabbed him. No action was taken against her.

GO ON YOUR VACATION; LARKIN WILL KEEP HOUSE

By John B. Larkin, City Controller.

Those who desire to go to the seashore or elsewhere need have no fear of the public light giving out during their absence. The police will be as vigilant as ever, the firemen as energetic, and the whole field of public service will be as responsive as before the fairy tale about the appropriations were circulated. The finance committee, composed of good men, after weeks of careful consideration framed the appropriations for the year 1903 and Mr. Morrow and I will see that the money to meet them is neither diverted nor wasted.

We cannot provide against infliction of Providence and it was not fair to assume last February that there would be no abatement of the smallpox scourge, so that we are taking advantage now when it is needed of the provision then talked of. It is the controller's business to look after the income, as well as the outgo, and no one need sit up at night worrying about the city finances. With the economy in city matters promised before the election there will be money enough to meet all expenses, with the exception of the shortage in the health bureau, which was fully considered when the appropriations were made. Notwithstanding the ring legacy of $1,130,000 for which no provision was made when it went out of business.

SEXTON MAKES ATTEMPT TO POISON A PRIEST

ROME, Aug. 7.—(Special Cable.)—An attempt to poison Father Guiseppe Preziosi in the wine used in mass, has created a sensation in Esinali. As Father Preziosi was putting the chalice to his lips he detected a curious aroma, which aroused his suspicions and he did not drink it. The wine was submitted to a chemist for analysis, and the presence of poison in quantity sufficient to have produced death was discovered. Suspicion fell upon a former sexton of the church, who had recently been dismissed by the priest, and he had him placed under arrest.

COURT REFUSES RELIEF FOR STARVING FAMILY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Judge Davis, in quarter sessions court today, dismissed the writ of habeas corpus brought to gain the liberty of Norman R. Hyland and his family, who were declared to be starving to death after a week's smallpox quarantine at their home, No. 2257 Gratz street. The action of the bureau of health in denying Hyland, his wife and three children the means to obtain food was said to be due to the man's persistent refusal to have one of his children suffering from smallpox removed to the Municipal hospital.

RECORD BROKEN BY LOWE'S TRAIN

Run Made from Atlantic to Pacific in 73 Hours and 21 Minutes.

SEVENTY-FIVE MILES AN HOUR

Reached Highest Speed on Long Stretch Into Los Angeles—Five Hours and Five Minutes Are Clipped Off Previous Time.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—At 1:06 o'clock this afternoon the special train bearing Henry P. Lowe, chief engineer of the United States Steel Corporation, drew in at La Grande station, having completed a run from the Atlantic to the Pacific, more than 3,200 miles, in the fastest time on record.

Mr. Lowe left New York on Tuesday, August 4, at 2:45 p. m., and arrived in Los Angeles 73 hours and 21 minutes later, an hour and 21 minutes more than three days of actual running time, which includes the three hours gained by running from east to west. The run from Chicago was made over the lines of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, a distance of 2,256 miles. The time from Chicago to Los Angeles was 52 hours and 51 minutes, an average speed of 42.7 miles an hour, including all stops. This run clips five hours and five minutes off all previous records.

The record run just finished by Mr. Lowe was undertaken to gain the bedside of his 11-year-old daughter, who was dying in Los Angeles. The child died early Thursday morning, but Mr. Lowe was not advised of her death until well on his way. As the schedule had been prepared by the railroad the trip was continued as originally planned, except that the trip was made in 10 hours less time than scheduled from Chicago to Los Angeles.

When the Santa Fe special left Chicago on Wednesday at 10:15 a. m., it was intended that the run to Los Angeles should be made at a speed of 35 miles an hour, including stops. As the train passed through Missouri and Kansas it was found that faster time than the schedule provided for could be made. Orders were then given to make as fast time as was considered consistent with safety. The special began to gain at once. At La Junta, Col., it was more than an hour ahead of its schedule, and when Albuquerque, N. M., was reached at 5:45 last evening, this gain had been increased to three hours and 25 minutes.

Reaching San Bernardino, nine hours and 26 minutes ahead of time, the special had a clear track to Los Angeles, 63 miles. The run over this last stretch of track was a record breaker—the speed at times being as fast as 75 miles an hour.

Mr. Lowe was hastily driven to the Westminster hotel, where he joined his wife, who has been prostrated since the death of her child.

The previous record for a transcontinental run was made by A. G. Peacock, director of the United States Steel Corporation, who on March 27, 1900, made the run from Los Angeles over the Santa Fe railroad in 57 hours and 56 minutes.

Mr. Lowe has expressed his appreciation of the efforts of the road to aid him in his race against death, although it turned out that the train never had a chance to win.

LEE CHANG TAKES OUT A MARRIAGE LICENSE

Chinaman to Wed a Woman Whose Name Is Given as Lillian Russell.

The appearance of a Chinaman in the court house yesterday seeking a marriage license caused considerable excitement along the corridors of the county building. A Celestial, giving the name of Lee Chang, applied for a license to marry a woman whose name he said was Lillian Russell, and who the Chinaman said was beyond the age that required the parents' consent to the union. The addresses of both the prospective groom and bride were given as Allegheny.

A search for Lee Chang last night proved unsuccessful, and among the Chinese restaurants and laundrymen it was learned that no fair as is known Lee does not live in Allegheny. From Dale, the leader of the Chinese on the North Side of the river, it was learned that no such yellow man lived there nor had been a resident of Allegheny for years.

All the Allegheny Chinamen denied knowing Chang, but all were interested in the story that he was to marry a white woman.

DROWNED AT THE DAM.

Boy Was Washed Into Deep Water by the Waves from a Passing Steamer.

Henry C. Cohen, 15 years old, of No. 3 Marion street, was drowned at 4:30 p. m. yesterday at lock No. 3 in the Monongahela river. The boy was in bathing with others below the dam and was standing in water about up to his neck. A steamboat passed at the time, and it is thought the boy was washed into deep water, at least this is what is said by Tom Shaffer of Van Braam street, one of the boys of the party. The boy could not swim.

A large crowd soon collected and J. O'H. Beemer of No. 609 Wylie avenue and James Baker of No. 1610 Ann street began diving for the body. After working for about 20 minutes Beemer found the body about 20 feet from the shore and brought it to the surface.

The body was taken to the morgue, where S. Davis, 70 years old, of Ann street, was placed as guard over the body, according to Jewish custom.

HUSBAND OUT OF REACH.

He Returns to Learn of the Suicide of His Wife.

A. L. Guthrie, the husband of Mrs. Daisy Barber Guthrie, who committed suicide in Sewickley Thursday, was found at Grafton, W. Va., at noon yesterday. He had been on a trip looking after his gas wells, and could not be notified of the tragedy until he returned to Grafton. He immediately started for Sewickley, and arrived there last night.

The remains of Mrs. Guthrie were shipped to her old home at Titusville last night, where they will be buried. Nothing further has been learned of the motives that influenced Mrs. Guthrie to commit suicide.

AFTER THE RECORD.

Dan Patch to Make Effort on the Empire Track.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Under conditions never before made by the owner of a championship horse, Dan Patch, the fastest pacer in the world, will make an attempt at the Empire City track next Wednesday during the grand circuit meeting to lower the existing record of 1:59¾, held jointly by himself and Star Pointer.

Unless Dan Patch gets the record, his owners will not receive a single dollar for the exhibition.

CLOTH WEAVERS DECIDE TO RETURN TO WORK

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The first break in the ranks of the cloth weavers, who are on strike along with the other textile workers, occurred today when the employes of the Saxonia dress goods mill voted to return on Monday. It is claimed by the strike leaders that the meeting was not a representative one and that many of the workers employed in that mill will not return to work until their demands are granted.

TWENTY-THREE KILLED IN WRECK

Circus Trains Demolished by a Rear End Collision in Michigan.

MANY ARE ALSO INJURED

Railroad Officials Place Blame on an Engineer Who Declares Brakes Failed to Work—One Elephant and Two Camels Are Crushed to Death.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DURAND, MICH., Aug. 7.—The death list, as a result of the collision early today in the Grand Trunk yards between the two sections of the Wallace Bros. circus train, stands tonight at 23, seven of whom are in the morgue unidentified. Coroner Farrer this afternoon impanelled a jury, which viewed the remains and adjourned until August 14, when the inquest will be held.

The Dead.

JAMES TOFFELMIRE, Orient Ia.

JAMES M'CARTHY, trainmaster Grand Trunk railroad between Port Huron and Battle Creek.

A. W. LARGE, special officer Grand Trunk, Battle Creek.

JOHN PURCELL, Peru, Ind., boss canvasman.

LAFE LARSON, Cambridge, O., team driver.

G. THOMAS, residence unknown.

HARRY ST. CLAIR, residence unknown.

JOHN LEARY, Springfield, Ill., boss of ring stock.

ANDREW HOWLAND, New York, canvasman.

FRANK THORP, Dundee, Mich., trainmaster of circus.

ROBERT RICE, residence unknown, harnessmaker.

GEORGE SMITH, residence unknown, blacksmith.

CHARLES SANDS, Peru, Ind., driver.

JOSEPH WILSON, Pittsburgh.

W. J. M'COY, Columbus, O., canvasman.

EDWARD YORK, Terre Haute, Ind.

The seriously injured are James S. Foley, special officer of Grand Trunk, Detroit; Joseph F. Benton, Milford, Conn.; W. H. Roe, Armstrong, Ill.; Frank Tilley, Rising Sun, Ind.; Bole Abrams, Sandusky, O.; Burt McGrath, Connellsville, O.; John W. Koons, Bairdstown, O.; George Bartley, Los Angeles; Jere Anderson, Evansville, Ind.; John Thompson, Peru, Ind.; Jack King, Portsmouth, O.; O. E. Frisbie, Geneva, O.; E. J. Connelly, Emmetsburg, O.; W. L. Cone, Dubuque, Ia.; J. J. Meadow, Anderson, S. C.; Joseph Patterson, Grand Prairie, Ill.; C. E. Barker, Hammond, Ind.; Joseph Monks, Vassar, Mich.; John Glieber, Bellaire, O.; John Collins, Peru, Ind.; Ia.; Stephen Bennett, New York City; George Clough, Trumbull, O.; J. R. Stewart, Denver; G. W. Terry, Chicago; N. Caldwallader, Indianapolis; Marshall Nellis, Chicago; Henry Coulkiln, Binghamton, N. Y.

After discussing the question of responsibility for the horror, the railroad officials unhesitatingly lay it to Engineer Probst of the second section of the train, whose home is in Battle Creek. Probst says that the airbrake on his train refused to work, but the officials declare that he could have stopped the train in time to have avoided serious consequences.

The official report on the accident, issued by Superintendent Brownlee, declares positively that the airbrakes have been tested since the accident and found to be in perfect condition, and there is evidence that they were not applied.

The head brakeman and fireman, who were on the engine, bear out Engineer Probst's statement that the brakes refused to work.

The bodies of the dead have been placed in caskets and are being shipped to their homes as rapidly as possible. The injured who are here at the temporary hospital, in the hotel Richelieu, are those suffering from lesser hurts, the seriously wounded being removed to Detroit this afternoon.

Three cars of the first section were telescoped and the engine and five cars of the moving train were demolished. The rear car of the first section was a caboose, in which the trainmen were sleeping, and the next two were filled with sleeping circus employes. The greatest loss of life was in the caboose.

One of the wrecked cars of the second section was occupied by five elephants and several camels. One of the elephants and two camels were killed. With the exception of this car, none of the menagerie was wrecked, the other demolished cars containing canvas or wagons, and there was comparatively little excitement among the wild animals.

CARNEGIE'S METHODS ARE AT LAST LAID BARE

nothing about his stock. The author quotes from the minutes of the steel company to show that Mr. Frick was ordered, under the "iron-clad agreement," to surrender his stock on January 31, 1900. In protest Mr. Frick wrote:

To the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited:

On Friday evening, January 12, 1900, for the first time I learned that the board of managers for your company secretly, and without notice to me, at a meeting on Monday, January 8, 1900, passed a resolution offered by Andrew Carnegie, rescinding a former resolution of October 19, 1897, touching the agreement of September 1, 1897, and at the same time your secretary was directed to procure the signatures of the present members of the association who had not signed the same to what it is now, for the first time in your minutes called "the supplemental Ironclad agreement" dated July 1, 1892."

This is to notify you that all the said section of January 14, 1900, taken without my knowledge or consent, and I do hereby protest against and object to the same. In some respects the recitals or statements therein contained are untrue in fact. The action did not and could not, as the resolution asserts, reinstate the so-called agreement of 1887. At the instigation of Andrew Carnegie you have secretly acted without my knowledge or consent, and after a secret personal disagreement between Mr. Carnegie and myself, and by proceeds purposely kept secret from me to my contract for me under which Mr. Carnegie thinks he can soon fairly take from me my interest in the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited. Such proceeds are illegal and fraudulent as against me, and I now give you formal notice that I will hold all persons pretending to act thereunder libel for the same. H. C. FRICK.

Pittsburgh, January 13, 1900.

Jumped at Whip's Crack.

"However," says the author, "the junior partners" did as Mr. Carnegie requested, and despite Mr. Frick's protests that the whole proceedings were fraudulent. He received the following reply:

Pittsburgh, Feb. 1, 1900.

Mr. H. C. Frick:

Dear Sir—I beg to advise you that, pursuant to the terms of the so-called ironclad agreement and at the request of the board of managers, I have today, acting as your attorney-in-fact, executed and delivered to the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, a transfer of your interest in the capital of said company. Yours truly,

C. M. SCHWAB.

Mr. Bridge continues: "Of course, as is well known, Mr. Frick was not to be easily deprived of his interest. In speaking about the fact that all the 'juniors' voted to depose him, one of that band said, 'we were simply a band of circus horses. We all jumped as the ringmaster cracked the whip.'"

The story of the Atlantic City compromise by which Mr. Frick came to his own, and then the interesting story of how Mr. Carnegie sold his plant to Mr. Morgan are told in detail, regarding which Mr. Bridge says:

Formation of Corporation.

"Mr. Carnegie proposed to erect a tube works at Conneaut Harbor, which would have been fatal to Mr. Morgan's enterprise. At the same time Mr. Carnegie threatened to build his own railroad to tidewater to parallel the Pennsylvania Company. The pressure was too great, and after numerous fruitless efforts to sell the steel works to others Mr. Morgan was compelled to take them and many others with them, and the name of the United States Steel Corporation."

The basis of exchange of Carnegie stock for United States Steel stock has, according to Mr. Bridge, never been definitely set forth before. He gives it thus:

"One share of the Carnegie Company stock, par value $1,000, to receive of the United States Steel Corporation stock 15.3588 shares of seven per cent cumulative preferred, par value $100, $1,535.88; 14.1061 shares common, par value $100, 1410.61. No scrip will be issued for fractional shares, but exchange will be arranged at the rate of $100 per share for preferred and $50 per share for common, viz.:

"Where a depositor is entitled to less than one-half of one share of preferred or common stock he will receive cash for the same; and where entitled to more than one-half of one share of preferred or common stock, he will be allotted and required to pay for the fractional share at the above rates.

What Carnegie Received.

In summing up this matter, Mr. Bridge says: "Had all the stockholders been subject to these terms it would have meant that the $100,000,000 of the Carnegie Steel Company's stock would have been exchanged for the United States Steel Company's stock as follows:

"Seven per cent cumulative preferred, $240,560,280; common stock $225,697,700; totals, $466,267,940. Add $160,000,000 bonds exchanged for the same amount of Carnegie bonds, $160,000,000. Total, $626,267,940.

"As a matter of fact, however, Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Lucy Carnegie and George Lauder were paid entirely in United States Steel Corporation bonds, at the rate of $1,500 per share. Thus for 96,000 shares of stock in the Carnegie company they received $144,000,000 of bonds in the United States Steel Corporation. The balance of the $304,000,000 bond issue of the latter, or $160,000,000, was exchanged at par for the $160,000,000 bond issue of the Carnegie Company.

"For the balance of the stock of the Carnegie Company 640,000 shares were issued, $88,277,100 in preferred stock and $90,279,040 in the common stock of the United States Steel Corporation."

Discussing the option given by Mr. Carnegie to the syndicate which Judge W. H. Moore of Chicago attempted to organize to purchase his interests and which fell through, Mr. Bridges writes:

"Mr. Carnegie promised not to hold his partners on a $1,000,000 option, which, however, was later demanded and obtained by him, from Mr. Frick and Mr. Phipps.

"Extract from letter from Mr. Carnegie in England to his trustees in Pittsburgh:

I see no reason why profiteers of the new company, who are going to make large profits, should escape paying one cent of what is legally due, and I must ask you to be guided by counsel in the matter. Do not transfer the property until my legal rights are fully realized, which I think means that the option money has nothing to do with the purchase money. Very respectfully yours,

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

P. S.—The first mortgage bonds of course have a proper sinking fund, otherwise the coke and ore may be worked out before they mature. Of course any part paid by my partners shall refund."

James Howard Bridge was born in England 45 years ago. He was for a time private secretary to Herbert Spencer, and has written much on subjects connected with the study of political economy. Mr. Bridge assisted Andrew Carnegie materially in the preparation of his book, "Triumphant Democracy." He is married and has lived at No. 100 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, for some time. He left for England on a visit three weeks ago, and is expected back early in September.

The following, according to Mr. Bridge, is a correct list of stockholders and bondholders of the Carnegie Company, as formed or organized after the Frick-Carnegie suit and the Atlantic City compromise:

CREDENTIALS WERE GIVEN TO PRESIDENT

Germany's Ambassador Formally Received by This Nation's Executive.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Speck von Sternburg, the new ambassador of Germany to the United States, today presented his credentials to President Roosevelt. The new ambassador was received at the station by Secretary Barnes and escorted to Sagamore Hill. Accompanying the ambassador, were Acting Secretary of State Loomis and Col. Thomas W. Symons, the military aide of the president.

At 11 o'clock Col. Symons escorted the ambassador, who was in full court dress, to Sagamore Hill. There the formal presentation occurred in the parlor of the Roosevelt home. Ambassador von Sternburg laid before President Roosevelt the letter announcing the recall of Ambassador von Holleben and his own credentials as successor.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the president and Ambassador Von Sternburg, as old friends, chatted animatedly. The ambassador will be the unofficial guest of the president until some time tomorrow. It was stated authoritatively today that the reception by the president of the German ambassador at Sagamore Hill is not to be regarded as a precedent, although it is the first time in the history of the country that an ambassador has presented his credentials to the president outside of Washington.

Was Too Ready With Gun.

Officer John Dean last night arrested Frank Hogan of Fourth avenue and locked him up. A colored person, also Hogan, it is said, had some trouble with a woman and pointed a revolver at her. Officer Dean was notified of the affair and gave chase, catching Hogan at Fifth avenue and Tunnel street. Here the man drew his revolver on the officer and was promptly knocked down by a blow on the head.

Moors Fight French.

MADRID, Aug. 7.—According to a dispatch from Melilla, Morocco, a fight has taken place between French and Moorish troops near the village of Beni-Fert. The Moors, who were pursuing a body of Kabyle insurgents, entered French territory, in spite of the protests of the French frontier post and a conflict ensued. Three French and two Moorish soldiers were killed and a number were wounded.

Blaze Caused Excitement.

A slight blaze in the basement of the F. W. Woolworth & Co.'s stores at Nos 306, 308 and 310 Fifth avenue at 6:45 last night caused considerable excitement in the busy street. The prompt discovery of a rapidly gaining blaze averted a possible conflagration of the block. The fire originated in the cellar and was quickly extinguished.

DIED.

COLLINS—At St. Petersburg, Fla., Friday, August 7, 1903, at 10 p. m., CHARLES W. COLLINS.

Funeral from his late residence, 905 Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg, Sunday, August 9, 1903, at 3 p. m. Friends and Franklin Lodge 221, F. and A. M., respectfully invited to attend.

Gen. Miles has issued an address acknowledging his appreciation of the fidelity manifested by the officers and soldiers during the eventful years of his command.

Police Give Chase in Buggy.

While trying to sell a mirror at a house in the rear of No. 208 Grant street about midnight last night two men were overtaken by officers and sent to Central police station, where they gave their names as Lewis Carter of Jones avenue and Thomas Woodruff of No. 638 Second avenue. Carter tried to escape and ran as far as the South Tenth street bridge before he was overtaken by officers in a buggy. At Woodruff's house the police found a wagonload of bed clothing and other stuff, which it is believed the men stole from the house at No. 637 Second avenue, robbed on June 25.

CANNONS BOOM OFF THE COAST

Believed the Enemy and Defenders in Mimic War Have Met.

NOTHING DEFINITE IS LEARNED

Shore Headquarters Unable to Locate from Whence Came the Sound of "Battle"—Good Night to Run the Blockade at Bar Harbor.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BAR HARBOR, ME., Aug. 7.—Shortly after 10 o'clock tonight a few slight cannon shots were heard here. Owing to the islands reflecting the sound, the sound could not be exactly located. After the stray shots there was heavy cannonading, which seemed to come from the two opposing forces. Men along the shore say that the sound came up from at Lamoine. There seems to be little reason for the enemy to be up there as the channel is only eight feet deep and not deep enough for battleships.

To others it sounded as if the fighting were out off Schoodic point to the open sea. If this is the case there are two suppositions. Either the enemy was trying to overpower the two scout boats, Newport and Hartford; or the enemy ran into the fighting force of Admiral Barker's fleet, which is out near Egg Rock light. The fighting ceased after about 20 minutes.

The land station tried to communicate with different points along the shore, but all telephone and telegraph operators had closed for the night. Northeast Harbor heard no firing, nor did Ellsworth.

Considerable excitement was caused today by the report that Admiral Sands and the enemy had been sighted last night by the outer scout boats of the defense, headed for Bar Harbor, but the report was not verified at the land headquarters of the defenders. The night is a very good one for the enemy to force the blockade or scouting vessels, and also good for making a run into harbor. Outside there is a thick fog.

There was no election for grand inner guard, grand outer guard and grand trustee, there being so many candidates for the offices that none of them received a necessary majority. The offices will be filled at the convention to be held at Carbondale August 18.

MYSTERIOUS FEATURE OF RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Girl With a Man Who Is Fatally Injured, Says She Does Not Know Him.

Miss Mae North, who says she lives in Center avenue, and an unknown man are at the West Penn hospital in a serious condition as a result of a runaway accident in Grant boulevard last night. The man and girl were driving together in a buggy and their animal became frightened at a double team drawing a delivery wagon approaching it. The frightened horse ran into the wagon and upset the buggy, throwing the occupants to the ground.

The horse ran away and the buggy was demolished. The couple were picked up and removed to the hospital in a carriage. Miss North says she does not know the name of the man with whom she was driving nor where he lives.

The horse was caught by a negro and taken to the Twelfth ward police station. The man's injuries are regarded as fatal. He had not regained consciousness late last night.

FOUR BAD LITTLE BOYS.

Confessed to Robbing Several Houses in the Bloomfield District.

Four boys, whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, were arrested last night in the Bloomfield district. Samuel Berry, 13 years old, confessed last night to several thefts and implicated the four others boys, who are Robert and Thomas Berry, brothers of Samuel, of No. 4803 Dearborn street, and Joseph Cousins and Edward Kirkpatrick of Dauphin street.

Samuel Berry, who was arrested Thursday night, told of the places they had visited. On Sunday night they entered Blumer's feed store, No. 5009 Penn avenue, and, breaking open the money drawer, secured the contents. They also entered the house of Dr. A. J. Bigler, No. 5012 Penn avenue, but secured nothing, as they were frightened away. On the same night they stole a quantity of liquor from a house at Pearl and Carrol streets.

It is believed that other small robberies committed recently in the Bloomfield district was the work of these boys.

AFTER MILK DEALERS.

More Informations Made and Penalties Imposed in Previous Cases.

Director Moore is still waging war on the milk dealers of Pittsburgh. Yesterday Inspector Samuel P. Adler made 10 informations against dealers for selling milk which had been adulterated with formaldehyde.

A number of milk dealers sued by Inspector Adler Thursday, had hearings yesterday before Alderman Ryan. City Chemist J. F. Haggarty testified that he found large quantities of formaldehyde in the milk. This was used, he said, as a preservative. The defendants were fined $10 and costs, and Director Moore said upon the second violation on their part he would have their cases taken to court. Inspector Adler took 170 samples of milk to the city laboratory, at the bureau of health, yesterday morning.

Pure food agents visited Homestead and Braddock yesterday and secured samples of milk sold by each dealer of that borough. Tests will be made from these samples and informations will follow. It is claimed that a number of milk dealers in these boroughs have been using chemicals in the milk.

SOLDIERS WILL PRESERVE ORDER

Military to Surround St. Peter's Cathedral When New Pope Is Crowned.

DEMONSTRATION IS FEARED

Another Division in Sacred College. Strong Sentiment for Reappointment of Rampolla as Papal Secretary of State—His Opponents Are Active.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Aug. 7.—St. Peter's is closed while the preparations for the coronation next Sunday are proceeding. Pope Pius X. has expressed a desire to have as many of the humble members of the faith as possible admitted and 50,000 tickets will be distributed by the parish priests. Catholic clubs and associations, seminaries, ecclesiastical colleges, monasteries and convents.

The remainder of the seats will be reserved for the distinguished guests. Only two galleries have been erected, one for the diplomatic body and one for the Roman aristocracy. The body of the church will be divided into compartments with separate entrances. Thousands are already leaving the Venetian provinces to attend the coronation of "their pope."

The papal master of ceremonies has issued the invitations to the archbishops and bishops, who will participate in the procession from the vatican into St. Peter's. They are requested to be at the vatican at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

The government, to avoid untoward incidents, has ordered the piazza and the neighborhood of St. Peter's and the basilica to be occupied by the military and forbidding any anti-clerical manifestation proposed by the Socialists and Republicans for the day. The pope's first allocution, to be delivered at the next secret consistory, is looked forward to with great interest.

Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, who is a personal friend of Pius X., has said to his followers that he would not now have the papacy against him as he did under the pontificate of Leo, who was the godfather of King Alfonso, and has even gone so far as to say that he hoped the accession of the pope would help him to the throne.

Dr. Lapponi stated today that Cardinal Herrera y Espinosa was out of danger.

The duties of a new papal secretary of state is daily becoming more complicated, as there is a division in the sacred college such as existed before the election of Pius X. There is a strong sentiment in favor of the reappointment of Cardinal Rampolla because he is conversant with all papal affairs and Cardinal Ferrata, who belongs to the Rampolla party, is also suggested.

The latter's opponents intimate that as he was nuncio at Paris, he might not be agreeable to some of the powers, and, besides, it is believed that he voted against the pope in the conclave, except on the last ballot. Pius offered the position twice to Cardinal Agliardi, who declined to give up the vice chancellorship of the church.

Cardinal Satolli also declined on the ground that he was not sufficiently acquainted with the French language, and that he knew too little of foreign questions generally, except those relating to American affairs, and suggested Cardinal Vannutelli. Negotiations are proceeding to have Cardinal Agliardi, while retaining the vice chancellorship, assume the secretaryship of state temporarily.

PRIVATE AUDIENCE TO GIBBONS BY POPE

American Cardinal's Ill Health Compels Him to Hasten His Departure from Rome.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Aug. 7.—Cardinal Gibbons was received by the pope today in private audience. In a lengthy conversation Pius X. renewed his expressions of interest in America already manifested by his reception Wednesday to the pilgrims from the United States. The pope said he should like to have had the cardinal remain in Rome for some time, in order that he might become thoroughly acquainted with all questions connected with the United States, but he did not insist, being aware, he said, of the cardinal's delicate state of health and his suffering from hot weather.

In closing the audience the pontiff charged Cardinal Gibbons to carry the apostolic benediction to all the faithful in America. After his private audience, Cardinal Gibbons presented to the pope the Rev. Dennis R. O'Connell, rector, and Father Charles P. Grannan, professor of theology at the Catholic university at Washington, and Father F. C. Gavan, the cardinal's secretary. The pope spoke most affably to each, and said to Rector O'Connell that he knew the importance of the Catholic university at Washington and would do all possible to further its interest and prestige.

Cardinal Gibbons is somewhat indisposed, the weather having become intensely hot, still he has been able to visit the churches of St. Peter and St. Paul which, with yesterday's visit to Santa Maria di Trastevere, was obligatory during his visit, which he must make every ten years.

BRUTE FORCE TO STOP CONTAGION

Hungarian Woman With Smallpox Dragged from Her Home to the Pesthouse.

MANY CASES TRACED TO HER

Inspector Shannon of the Health Bureau Places 27 Guards on Houses Visited by Woman Since She Was Stricken—Allegheny Pesthouse to Be Moved.

Ten officers of the bureau of health, led by Dr. A. B. Booth, city physician, and Inspector William Shannon of the health bureau broke down two doors in a house in Lawrenceville last night, and by force took a woman sick with smallpox for two weeks into an ambulance and off to the municipal hospital. This woman refused to take treatment and associated with many other persons, some of whom contracted smallpox from her.

The woman is Mrs. Marie Zivzic, aged 28 years, of No. 116 Forty-sixth street. Yesterday morning neighbors called at the health bureau and notified Dr. Booth that there was need of an immediate investigation at the house, as a woman was suspected of having smallpox. Dr. Booth went there yesterday afternoon and vaccinated a dozen Hungarians. He found no one with smallpox.

The physician visited every room in the house but one. This was on the first floor. Both doors to it were locked. He asked to be allowed in. The inmates of the house assured Dr. Booth that the keys were lost and that no one was inside. The physician departed, thinking their story true.

Hand Revealed Secret.

As he left the house he saw the hand of a woman reach out the window of the room to which he was refused admittance and draw in a shutter. He went back into the house and demanded to be admitted to the room. Then he was told that a woman and her baby were there and that they had smallpox. But still they would not let him in the room. Booth left the house after posting a smallpox sign on the door.

Last night at 7:30 o'clock, with Inspector Shannon and 10 officers, he returned and for a third time demanded admittance to the room. He met with a refusal. The officers were armed with axes and one of the doors of the room was broken down. Access to the room from this door was impossible, as there were several large boxes on the inside. The officers broke down the other door and discovered a woman and her babe in bed. Both showed plainly they had smallpox.

The room was clean and kept in good condition. The bed clothes were immaculate. The woman protested in a pitiable way against being taken away. While they were preparing the woman and her child to take them to the hospital Marcus Zivzic, the woman's husband, came in and demanded that she be left alone.

Marcus Was Vaccinated.

Marcus was seized by the officers and made to submit to vaccination. They asked him where he worked, but he refused to state. The officers learned he had been going to work daily and returning home each night to his family. Other Hungarians in the house told Inspector Shannon the man worked for Wickes Brothers, machinists and boiler makers in Forty-sixth street, opposite his home. Zivzic refused to tell in what department he worked.

While the officers were forcibly taking Mrs. Zivzic away a great crowd gathered outside the house and watched the woman and her baby placed in an ambulance. The English-speaking residents were very bitter against the woman, as they claim she is largely responsible for much smallpox in that vicinity.

Inspector Shannon made a thorough investigation last night and discovered that Thomas Hughes of No. 4613 Hatfield street, Frank Burk of No. 136 Forty-sixth street and Nick Zeppuhar of No. 120 Forty-sixth street, his wife Annie, and their son John had contracted the disease by coming in contact with Mrs. Zivzic. Shannon stated the woman had gone in and out of the house during the past two weeks and had given the disease to many others.

Other Houses Quarantined.

Other smallpox cases in the immediate vicinity are: Daniel Reardon, aged 19 years, of Forty-sixth and Hatfield streets; Jerry Egan, aged 23 years, of No. 3712 Mifflin street; Peter McCormick, aged 30 years, of No. 4706 Hatfield street; Margaret Hughes, aged 31 years, of No. 4613 Hatfield street; Patrick Clifford, aged 31 years, of No. 3433 Ridge street, and Harry Burek, aged 3 years, of No. 136 Forty-sixth street. These houses and No. 5019 Kincaid street have been quarantined. The latter house was visited by Mrs. Zivzic after she contracted the disease. It is not known whether any cases of smallpox exist there, but the house will remain under strict quarantine until an investigation is made some time today.

Nick Zeppuhar, one of the victims stricken through Mrs. Zivzic, conducts a grocery store two doors from her home. She went in there for groceries frequently during the past two weeks and it is not known how many other victims have been stricken besides the proprietor.

Inspector Shannon will this morning visit Wickes Brothers' plant and find out in what department Zivzic was employed. All the employes of that department and their families will be vaccinated at once. Shannon stated last night that 27 guards would be placed on houses in the vicinity of Mrs. Zivzic's home.

Hungarians Spread Smallpox.

The prevalence of smallpox in the Seventeenth ward among Hungarians has for some time caused the English-speaking people alarm. There have been 20 Hungarian smallpox cases in the ward since August 1. The attention of the health bureau was called to this fact and an investigation was contemplated. This investigation was forced yesterday by the announcement of Mrs. Zivzic's condition.

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the department of public safety of Allegheny left for Atlantic City last night to remain for two weeks. Before leaving he announced that next week the job of removing the annex to the pest house would be commenced. This will put a stop to the litigation that has been carried on by the residents of the Twelfth ward for the past six months. The annex, which was completed last January, is close to Warren street in the property owned by the city and shortly after its completion the residents of the ward had an injunction issued by the court restraining the city from using it for harboring smallpox patients. The annex will be a site occupied by city stables for 15 years.

Employes of the melting department of the Crescent steel works who live in Sharpsburg, Etna and O'Hara townships, will not be permitted to return to their homes for two weeks. In the meantime efforts will be made to stamp out the smallpox in the infected neighborhood. The men were notified to procure boarding houses in Pittsburgh if they desired to retain their positions in the mill.

May Hall, colored, of No. 145 Charles street, Allegheny, died yesterday morning at her home of smallpox. The case was not reported to the bureau of health, it is claimed, until a day before the woman died, one of the city physicians having discovered the case.

Blue Law Crusade Postponed.

The committee of 12, waging war on the druggists that sell soda on Sunday, was to have met last night and further outlined their campaign of extermination, but owing to the absence of over half the committee from the city, mostly on their vacations, the meeting was postponed until next Friday night.

Brothers Fought, Then Made Up.

Michael Descoush, a Hungarian, who arrived in Allegheny only on Thursday, got into a fight with one of his brothers, Frank, and the latter was badly used up. Frank had Michael arrested on information sworn out before Alderman Humphrey Lynch. Yesterday Frank relented and had his brother released from jail, where he was awaiting a hearing.

August Vacations.

Having this in view the Pennsylvania railroad announces a special seashore excursion on August 18, by special Pullman parlor cars and day coaches, Pittsburgh to Atlantic City, leaving Pittsburgh at 8:55 a. m., due at Atlantic City at 8:35 p. m. Evening trains at 4:50 and 9 o'clock. Sleeping cars through to Atlantic City at 10 p. m. Rate, ten dollars in coaches, or $12 in parlor cars or sleeping cars, when accompanied by the usual Pullman tickets. The same rate prevails to Cape May, Anglesea, Wildwood, Ocean City, etc.

Seats in parlor cars on day train, or berths in sleeping cars on evening trains, can now be secured at the company's offices, corner Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, and Union station.

DEAD PRESIDENT WENT TO HIS SUNDAY CLASS

Samuel Hummel Mays Celebrates His Eightieth Birthday in Verona—Descendant of a Revolutionary Soldier—Modest Bridal Trip.

Samuel Hummel Mays, President McKinley's Sunday school teacher and the descendant of a distinguished revolutionary soldier, on Thursday celebrated his 80th birthday at his home in Verona. Notwithstanding his advanced age, Mr. Mays enjoyed quite as good health as any of his large circle of younger acquaintances who had traveled far to participate in the family reunion. To show his virility and his devotion to religion he sang the old Methodist hymn, "My Heavenly Home Is Bright and Fair," in a rich bass voice that recalled his active days in church work.

Mr. Mays was born in Clarion county in 1823 when that region was an almost unbroken wilderness. His grandfather, Thomas Mays, had been a soldier in the revolutionary war, having enlisted from Massachusetts and served throughout all the campaigns under Gen. Washington. He was wounded seven times, and at the close of the struggle was confined in a military hospital in Charleston, S. C. Upon recovering from his injuries he married a young woman from Georgia, by whom he had five sons, who in turn served their country in the war of 1812. One of the sons, Thomas, removed to Western Pennsylvania.

At the age of 21 years, Samuel Mays boarded a raft on the Allegheny river and came to Pittsburgh. He has a vivid memory and delighted to tell his friends of the wonders of the Smoky City in those days. He said that a three-story building was being erected in Penn street, and that people came from far and near to gaze in amazement at its heighth. In the fire of April 10, 1845, Mr. Mays worked with the bucket brigade. A few years later he married Miss Sarah Ann Lowrie, the daughter of a well-known Scotch educator who lived in Fifth avenue, on the present site of the Grand opera house. Their wedding occurred in Allegheny and their wedding journey consisted of a walk across the bridge to Pittsburgh and a trip down the river by boat to Manchester, where they attended a church picnic.

Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Mays moved to Poland, O., where they were neighbors of the father of President McKinley. Mr. Mays was active in the Methodist Episcopal church, and the future statesman joined Mr. Mays' Sunday school class, remaining under his religious instruction for five years. Mrs. Mays died about six years ago. Mr. Mays before his retirement was a house painter. He has lived in Verona since his retirement, a number of years ago.

Beside a number of relatives and intimate friends, there were present at the reunion his daughter, Miss Alice C. Mays, and two of his sons, W. L. and Harry M. Mays of Providence, R. I. The other son, George H. Mays, was unable to attend.

WIDE OPEN GAMBLING, THIRD FLOOR, CITY HALL

Exposure Causes a Sensation, but Police Say It Was Nothing Serious.

The exposure made yesterday of the fact that city employes had been playing cards for money in a room on the third floor of the municipal building produced a sensation. Despite proof that card playing was carried on, the police authorities tried to make it appear that the charge was groundless, accepting the statements of the city employes implicated that they had been playing for pastime alone, and not for money.

An evening paper contained the facts, and Detective Supt. McQuaide sent to city hall three men to investigate. Detective Elmore was in charge. His report to Supt. McQuaide was as follows: "We saw them playing seven up, but there was no money in sight."

Director Moore was likewise inclined to minimize the charges. "They tell me that the boys at the city hall were merely playing a little game of cards among themselves for pastime. They say there was no money bet, but of course, I do not know."

Charles A. Finley, superintendent of the bureau of surveys, some of whose employes are said to have participated in the gambling game, claimed to be ignorant of what his men on the third floor had been doing, and grew angry when it was mentioned that Controller Larkin might investigate the matter.

"It is none of the controller's business," he said. "I am in charge of those men, and the controller has nothing to do with them."

It has been known for several years that the engineering crews of the construction, surveys and water bureaus spent a great deal of their time in the rooms on the third floor when not working outside, and that much of their time inside was spent in playing cards, but it was not known, generally, until yesterday, that they had played for money.

NEW COAL COMPANY.

Fifty Acres of Land Purchased Near Elizabeth—Other Concerns Get Charters.

Interests connected with the United Coal Company have been granted a charter for the Lynne Coal Company, which will operate near Elizabeth, Pa. Fifty acres of coal land have been purchased and one drift opening has been made. Harry Murphy of the Glassport Coal Company, McKeesport, and also a nephew of J. S. and W. S. Kuhn, who are interested in the United Coal Company, has been made manager of the Lynne Company. The incorporators are M. J. Eakin, B. C. Harris and D. B. Ludwick.

Among the charters granted Thursday by Governor Pennypacker is one for the Hercules Fire Proofing Company, the chief incorporator of which is W. A. Strouss, assistant secretary of the United States Fire Proofing Corporation. He said yesterday that the company will not operate for some time, and that it has no connection with the United States Corporation.

Several officials of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company have been granted a charter for the Duquesne Light Company, which, it is believed, will supply electric lights on a small scale. The capital stock is $50,000. The incorporators are F. B. Ernst, whose name is not given in the Pittsburgh city directory; C. A. Gabig, cashier of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Company, and E. W. Hatfield, chief clerk to the vice president of the same concern. Mr. Gabig is on vacation in Michigan, and Mr. Hatfield would not discuss the charter yesterday.

Bogus Check Man in Homestead.

The bogus check man worked Homestead merchants yesterday and succeeded in having two checks cashed for $5 each. At the store of Mrs. Sophia Stitzler he purchased a box of candy and offered a $50 bill in payment. Being unable to change the bill Mrs. Stitzler accepted a check for $5 on the Homestead National bank. The same trick was worked on William Morgan, a butcher, a check for $5 being accepted by him and $4.50 change given.

BUILDERS' STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Conferences Have Been Resumed Between Committees of Interested Parties.

MEN ACCEPT PROPOSITION

Another Meeting to Be Held Today to Determine When the Men Shall Return to Work—Contentions to Be Finally Arbitrated Within Seven Days.

The trouble between the Building Trades council and the Builders' Exchange league, which was reopened by the league retracting its agreement to submit the dispute to a board of arbitration, still promises to be adjusted without much further trouble. The league, in a communication addressed to the council last Wednesday, agreed that all trades resume work under the agreement existing prior to August 1. It also stipulated that union hoisting engineers shall be employed on all work. The proposition was submitted to the council, which, after spending most of Thursday discussing it, agreed to accept it, but the league held a special meeting Thursday night and decided to withdraw the proposition.

This was looked upon by the trades as being a breach of faith, and for a time yesterday it looked as though the men would not consider any proposition from the league but a complete surrender and the signing of the hoisting engineers' scale before they would return to work. The excuse made for the league was that the committee had not full power to act, although the officials of the league gave out a statement that it had.

However, both committees held two conferences yesterday and after much discussion between them the committee of workmen, in order to prevent trouble, if possible, agreed to accept another proposition. The new proposition is the same as the first, with a possible exception, that the trouble must be settled within seven days. So far it has not been arranged when the men shall return to work. Another meeting of the two committees will be held today to decide that question.

WILL HOLD A CONVENTION.

Blacksmiths to Meet in St. Louis on Monday, October 5.

A referendum vote by the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths on the proposition of holding a national convention resulted in 2,698 votes for and 1,402 against. The convention will be held in St. Louis, commencing Monday, October 5.

There are eight locals in this district and before the convention assembles two more will be organized. This will give this district 20 delegates, besides Vice President John Cummings, who has charge of organizing this territory.

It requires 10 locals to form a district council, and Vice President Cummings expects to be able to report to the convention that one has been organized.

Glass Men Strike.

Despite the settlement of the annual flint glass wage scale at the conference held at Star Island, there has been no general resumption of work in the factories. The fire was to have been started Monday, but none of the pressed ware plants of the National Glass Company have been put into operation. There is a strike at the Phoenix Glass Company at Monaca and the H. C. Fry Glass Company, Rochester.

LABOR DAY MEETING.

General Committee Transacts Business Pertaining to the Demonstration.

The general committee for the Labor day celebration met last night in the Building Trades council hall, No. 225 Fourth avenue. One of the subjects that occupied considerable attention was the positions the carriages should take in the parade.

By some it was thought that all vehicles should be placed in the rear of the parade. This caused a hot discussion. It was finally settled that vehicles containing members of any craft, shall bring up the rear of that division, and that all wagons, of any kind, follow the last division.

The transportation committee reported that the railroads west of Pittsburgh had granted a one-way fare for the round trip within a radius of 50 miles of Pittsburgh, and the lines east, one-and-a-third fare for the round trip. The western lines' tickets will only be good for two days, while the eastern lines' are good for 10 days. The committee expects to get better concessions.

Moulders Get Shorter Day.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The local organization of the Molders and Core Makers Union of North America, after striving for years for a shorter work day, were conceded that demand today by the local members of the National Founders' association. The men are given a nine-hour day, beginning Monday, and will receive an increase of 10 cents a day, beginning June 1, 1904.

MAYOR'S NAMESAKE.

Mayor Hays has a namesake. In honor of the city executive, who is his personal friend, Frank Lorenzo, assistant superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, gave his son, born last Sunday, the name of William Bratton Hays Lorenzo.

The mayor's namesake is a lusty babe that weighed 15 pounds when it came into the world. It will be christened tomorrow, and the happy father has sent out printed invitations to Mayor Hays, Director Moore, Director James W. Clark, Select Councilman Peter Hermes and a number of other city officials. The christening will take place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo, No. 8 Wyoming street, Thirty-second ward.

German meat inspection has been very effective in shutting out American products. German imports of meat of all kinds has been cut down about two-thirds. Only a little over seven tons of ham were imported in April and May of this year, as against 262 tons in the same period of 1902; of bacon, 507 tons, against 1,749 tons. It is not that the inspection finds any considerable quantity that is not up to the standard, but charges are almost prohibitive. Under our new food inspection laws we may be able to show the German government that this is a game at which two can play.

A collision on an interurban trolley line in this state has been quickly followed by one on a steam railroad in Michigan. Various explanations are offered, but as a matter of fact both were due to neglect of precautions that should have been taken. Passing of trains on a single track is an impossibility. Stopping of trains without sufficient notice or effective appliances is equally out of the question. Passenger transportation will remain a long way from perfection until automatic devices eliminate the element of human judgment and until running rules rigidly prohibit the taking of any chances. Speed is not the paramount objective.

Director Moore's suggestion that every house should be provided with a filter until the sand filtering plant is constructed is not practical, but it proves that the director of the department of public safety is alive to the danger of impure water and the necessity for action to provide a remedy. A filter in every house would help to keep down the typhoid rate, but councils have no authority to compel householders to provide them at their own expense nor to provide them at the public expense. It would be encouraging, however, if officials who have direct connection with the problem in its constructive aspect were showing as much interest in the subject as Mr. Moore and were as ready to have something done.

In this week's issue of his paper Mr. Bryan devotes a long leading article to an expostulation with the Populist party over the Denver manifesto against any further fusion with the Democrats. Mr. Bryan argues that the Democratic party having adopted Populist principles is entitled to Populist support, and complains that "some of the Populists were jealous enough to complain that we had stolen their platform," instead of rejoicing at the spread of Populist principles through the indorsement of the Democratic party. The argument indicates that Mr. Bryan is unable to conceive of the Democratic party except as a Populistic annex, but he is fast finding himself alone among Democratic leaders in holding this opinion.

With an apparent opportunity to obtain political advantage from issues raised by a divided ministry, the Liberal party leaders in England have chosen to go into the campaign with the shibboleth: "Give the poor man a chance," the significance of which relates solely to technical representation in parliament. Without explanation it might be assumed this campaign cry would refer to proposed changes in the revenue laws and that it was intended to be a demand that no tax should be imposed upon food products. Not so. It refers merely to the fact that there is no provision for the support of a poor man who might happen to be elected to parliament. It may be a live issue, but at this distance it seems inconsequential when compared with the tariff question or other matters of colonial policy.

The city authorities appear to be now fully awake on the subject of milk inspection, and the character of the milk supply is now receiving an investigation to which it should have been subject at all times. Forty-two out of 170 samples procured were reported yesterday to have been found below the standard. Even more dangerous than watered milk is the stuff which has been treated with chemicals to prevent souring, so that stale milk can be passed off as fresh. There is reason to believe that a large trade will be done in this stuff and nothing but such prosecution and punishment as will make the business unprofitable will break it up. The political pull has been standing in the way of this, and if Director Moore expects to be successful he will have to look pretty sharply after that end of the business.

Controller Larkin's address to the public has an encouraging tone, but is totally lacking in specific explanation of what has provoked it. There has never been any doubt but that Mr. Larkin and Mr. Morrow, one or the other, or both, would remain on guard during the vacation season to see that the treasury does not take a jaunt to the seashore. Citizens have been going for their accustomed annual period of rest from the cares of business without any apprehensions before this cheering assurance was given. But as to the sufficiency of the appropriations, that is a matter in doubt. The city machinery will not stop, but there are evidences on every hand that it is not being run up to full modern speed. There is much that should have been done this year to secure the comfort of citizns that has not and will not be done, in the parks and on the streets in particular.

Banks and Speculators.

A function of good banking no less important than that of financing sound enterprises is that of repressing injurious speculation. In the latter respect American banking is not so efficient as it should be. Speculative enterprises are at times unduly fostered by banking capital, and a speculative spirit in banking management has had a notable development. The Gazette called attention to this phase of the situation some time ago in a series of articles entitled "Cautionary Signals." The correctness of the forecasts then made and the timeliness of the warning given have since been signally confirmed.

These speculative tendencies are promoted by the present character of our currency system, and their correction will be an important result of the adoption of a sound system of note issues based upon assets. Canada has such a system, originally borrowed from this country, and it is as useful in checking corners in the grain markets and stock gambling as it is in directly aiding legitimate business. The system of branch banking keeps the central banks in close touch with conditions everywhere, and when symptoms of tight money appear cautionary measures are immediately effective in every town in the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Business is not checked, but the brakes are applied to speculation everywhere. Last fall instructions were sent to branch managers not to make advances on grain held for speculative purposes. Money was advanced freely to handle and move the crops, but speculators wanting money to corner the grain market could not get the bank accommodations they needed.

Note issues being based upon assets, there is both a strict scrutiny of credit and a systematic accommodation for legitimate borrowers. Regularly each year the bank customer figures out how much accommodation he will require during the season and submits his application to his bank. It is usual with the banks to stipulate that each borrower shall confine himself to one bank, as the bank thus obtains a more satisfactory knowledge of his affairs than if his loans were scattered. If the credit is granted the borrower proceeds with his business relieved of all anxiety about financing. If exceptional circumstances arise requiring special accommodations he can approach his bankers with more confidence than would be the case if he had dealings with a number of banks, none of whom knew exactly how he stood.

As a result of this system the banks are under obligations to take care of mercantile borrowers, and are at all times aware of the approximate extent of these obligations, so that they keep prepared to meet them, avoiding any tying up of funds which would impair their ability to do so. For the last eight months the New York money market has been difficult of access to the owner of commercial paper, and in times of convulsion, such as we have been having recently, the ordinary borrower on commercial paper finds himself shut out or subjected to onerous conditions. Meanwhile, in Canada regular customers are cared for as usual, so that a recent monetary news dispatch from Montreal remarked that if it were not for what they read in the newspapers, "the majority of Canadian mercantile borrowers would be completely ignorant of the fact that a stringency prevails." The effect of the stringency in the New York money market is felt in Canada chiefly in the flattening out of stock speculation, and the discouragement of new enterprises involving applications for loans. Established business interests are being cared for by the banks right along.

Congestion of Freight.

Day by day the freight congestion or the shortage of cars is growing and Pittsburgh shippers charge discrimination on the part of some of the railroads in favor of other sections. West Virginia in particular is said to be favored in the matter of cars for coal shipments. The Baltimore & Ohio has the West Virginia coal fields to itself. It has built them up by giving them the best facilities it could command and has developed the territory contiguous to its system by every possible means. This is unusual in railroad policy affecting a region having no other means of transportation and in the abstract is highly commendable. However, when it comes to discrimination against one freight-producing center in order to favor another, there is no justification for it. It is the duty of a railroad to serve all alike, and it is excellent business policy to serve all shippers well.

Aside from the charges of discrimination, it is evident the congestion problem has not been solved. A return of the trouble during this autumn is quite certain, and it is likely to extend well into the winter. It should not be as serious as last year or the year before, for many improvements have been made. Complete relief, on the other hand, cannot be expected before next year, when the several "cut-offs" and new lines will be in operation.

It is notable that the car shortage is accompanied by increased railroad earnings. That means simply that more traffic is required to cause a congestion than last year and that the increased traffic has developed. Nothing could give more emphasis to the anomalous situation in the stock market. Unprecedented production and transportation might naturally be expected to boom the price of railroad and industrial shares, but in this case the contrary has happened.

The Business Situation.

A fresh outburst of liquidation in the stock market, which carried the level of values to the lowest average in three years and resulted in the suspension of two more stock exchange houses, was the most prominent incident of the week. There were no new developments to account for this movement, but the weakness was sufficient to cause uneasiness in business circles. Out of the multitude of reasons assigned for the shrinkage in security values, the one fact standing out clearly is that some financial interests undertook to float enterprises on the tidal wave of last year; the attempts failed, and after holding on for months they are now forced to liquidate. There is nothing in the necessities of promoters and speculators to justify the sacrifice of securities by bona fide investors. The latter, however, are not entirely free from the sentimental influences of the market, and their selling has doubtless aggravated the situation.

Amid all this gloom in Wall street another fact is equally plain. There has been no concerted movement on the part of the banks and great financial houses to check the liquidation in progress. They have evidently investigated the situation and reached the conclusion that the best interests of the country are not jeopardized. The market is, therefore, permitted to take its course. Happily, the government's finances are in excellent shape, despite the decided change that has taken place in the current of our foreign trade, and the quality of our circulating medium is not in question. In former years when the stock market was unusually depressed syndicates were formed to import gold to maintain the treasury reserve, and clearing house certificates were resorted to in order to ward off distress in commercial circles. Even last fall, when neither the government nor the commercial community required assistance, a $50,000,000 "money pool" was formed by leading New York banks to guard against a Wall street emergency. That no extraordinary measures have been adopted in the present instance must be accepted as proof that in the opinion of bankers a financial crisis is not threatened.

The confidence in the soundness of general business was somewhat disturbed by the publication of Dun's report of July failures. The liabilities were estimated at $16,751,245, as compared with $6,982,851 in July, 1902, and the statement was made that "no other July of the past decade showed as severe losses." Bradstreet's report for the same month, however, estimated the liabilities at only $8,633,852, a record that has been largely exceeded, with but two exceptions, in every July during the past 10 years. This is not the first time that a wide discrepancy has occurred in estimates dealing with this class of statistics and the effect is to weaken public confidence in their value.

All the recognized gauges of trade activity continue to show that the volume of business is well maintained. This is more noticeable in the steady gains in railroad earnings than in bank exchanges, although the latter show an increase over the corresponding period in previous years. Weather conditions have not been entirely satisfactory for growing corn, but some improvement is noted in the condition of cotton. In the Chicago market wheat reached the highest price quoted on this year's crop. The cotton market is still in the control of the speculative clique that forced prices to the highest level for many years and both domestic and foreign trade has been adversely affected thereby. The iron market displays a steadier tone and the coal trade continues extremely active.

Worse Than Ignorance.

While there are charges floating about that the bureau of health administration is not perfect, an experience of yesterday proves that some fault lies with an element of the population that is not imbued with proper civic spirit. The concealment of contagious disease is a misdemeanor; the going and coming from infected premises is a crime and should be punishable as such. The investigation made by Dr. B. A. Booth indicates that in this case a woman suffering from smallpox inflicted her presence upon a number of persons, and that her husband went daily from the infected premises to mingle with fellow workmen at his place of employment. Naturally a number of cases have resulted, and the only reason there are not many more is because many persons are fortunately not susceptible to the contagion.

It may be urged that these people are ignorant foreigners, only partly familiar with the language of the country and unable to appreciate the danger to which they exposed their neighbors. That may be partly true. Yet they knew enough to try to conceal the fact that they were harboring contagious disease in order to evade the legal measures prescribed in such cases. When officers went to investigate the patient was shut up in a room and admission denied. Common sense ought to dictate to people who know that much that the shutting in should begin with the first appearance of the disease and continue until complete convalescence, if at all.

It is time that some lessons should be impressed upon our new citizens. One of these is that contagious cases can be better treated at the public hospital than at home; another that quarantine is not instituted as a punishment, and a third that illegal concealment of contagion will be punished to the full extent of the law. These are wholesome lessons and they cannot be taught too quickly or too intelligently.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Prof. A. Y. Leonard, who has for some time been assistant state geologist of Iowa, has been elected state geologist of North Dakota.

Spanish newspapers claim that the oldest general in the world is the Count Cheste. He is 95, and has served in the army 81 years. His health is still good. He is president of the Spanish academy and occasionally attends a meeting. He has translated Dante's works into Spanish.

Sir S. Tatton Sykes is probably the richest baronet in England, the rent roll from his Yorkshire estates falling not short of $400,000 per annum. Sir Tatton has some curious clothing fads and particularly likes to have any number of overcoats on hand. There have been London seasons when he has been known to own and wear a baker's dozen.

The seventieth birthday of the empress of China, which occurs next year, is to be celebrated in Peking with unprecedented splendor. If the present plans are carried out, the cost will amount to nearly $5,000,000. One-half of this sum has already been put aside by the director of the treasury, Tshuan-lin; the remainder the provincial mandarins who owe their positions to the empress will be expected to provide.

The Rev. Mary Safford of Des Moines, Ia., is one of the most successful preachers in the country. She was born in the west, although she is of New England ancestry. She entered Iowa university at the age of 18 and later organized a Unitarian church in Hamilton, that state. She was pastor in Boston a year and a half and then regularly ordained to the Unitarian ministry, after which she was pastor of the church in Sioux City. In addition to her work as pastor in Des Moines, Miss Safford is state secretary of the Iowa Unitarian association, which means that she is in some sense a bishop of the church in Iowa. She travels a great deal, organizing and stimulating churches.

An Editorial Gem.

In the Connecticut Farmer—a paper that we have not read as often in the past as we are going to in the future—we find an editorial gem of almost blistering brilliancy. As it has no headline we have been unable to discover what the gem teaches, but it's all right, we know that, and are roundly glad to set it here with every ray gallantly streaming—to wit:

"At midday in midsummer, when no cloud obscures the sun, the air tremulous with heat—bird voices hushed, inland waters waveless, no rustling of foliage or meadow grass, while the lift aboon is still as death and bright as life can be, all things in nature listening, the soul that seeks and gains the summits may hear the weird melody of wordless songs, the wonderous harmony of unwritten psalms, as if sung and chanted by beings too ethereal and elusive for mortal eyes to see, to the music of chords made forever vibrant by their coming and going between earth and far-off realms of mystery."

Now, why don't more people write pieces like that for the papers? Why does the man who can do it hide his light in Hartford, Conn., where people seem to be scarce, when more than one metropolis is hungry for his eloquence?—New York Times.

An Unprecedented President.

A Methodist weekly in Richmond criticises President Roosevelt for a telegram of condolence sent to the College of Cardinals on the death of the pope. The paper says it was "unprecedented." That is a word of five syllables. It is not very serious. "Unprecedented" means in this instance that no other president ever sent a telegram on the death of a pope before. Well, no other president ever ran up San Juan hill or took horseback rides on Long Island, or camped with the boys in the woods, or conferred with John Mitchell, or declined to confer with "Mother" Jones, or did several other Roosevelt-lan things. The Richmond paper will have to dig up a harder word.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Buttons Made of Milk are the Latest.

Compressed milk buttons are now one of the latest productions of the west. They are not to be eaten or dissolved, but are considered the correct thing on up-to-date summer clothes. These buttons, of course, are not made of cream or best milk. The manufacturers buy the curds and buttermilk from the creameries, and this material is thoroughly hardened by a chemical process. The buttons made their first appearance in Wisconsin a few weeks ago. Manufacturers at Prairie du Chine, on the Mississippi river, are turning them out by the carload. A small number have already reached the east and are greatly in demand by dealers.

EZRA'S SLEIGHT O' HAND.

Ezra seen some sleight o' hand
Tother night, an' say—
Ezra's gettin' crazier
'Bout it ev'ry day.
Bought a book uf mysteries,
Cost him jest a dime:
"Now you see it, now you don't,"
Mumbles all the time.

Tried to take a reg'lar frog
Out uf Tildy's neck;
Looney notion anyway,
What could you expec'?
Tildy like to had a fit
Jumped an' screamed an' jerked;
Ezra says he can't see why
Blame trick never worked.

Then he tried to palm an egg,
Make it disappear;
Sez, "Now, Gents an' Ladies, watch,
It's here in my ear."
His hip pocket got the egg.
But the folks all bit,
Till he let it slip his mind,
An' set down on it.

Next he took a dollar bill,
Right there in our sight,
Out of Uncle Alec's vest,
Ended in a fight.
Alec says the bill was his,
Tried to get it back,
Now both him an' Ezra's got
Eyes all swelled an' black.

I declare, this sleight o' hand's
All right in its way,
But it's fer the magic man,
Not the country jay.
Ezra's got to git some sense,
Cut out all them tricks,
Farm work an' his mysteries
Ain't a' goin' to mix.
—"Bide Dudley," in Kansas City Journal.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

In life's small things be resolute and great.
To keep thy muscle trained; know'st thou when
Thy measure takes, or when she'll say to thee:
"I find thee worthy; do this deed for me"?
—Lowell.

That's it. You never know when you may be called upon to brace up against something heavy—not too heavy for your size.

You often hear men say that if they had known it was going to happen they would have made ready for it.

But that won't excuse them for not doing as they should have done, or might have done in the case. It was assigned them to do, and charged to their account, and so it will appear in the final accounting.

You may not think this a fair deal, but it is, seeing that nothing is assigned for man to do that he is not capable of doing if he has prepared himself as he should and could have done.

It being his own fault that he is not what he was designed to be, and should be, is it not clearly his fault if the work assigned him is not done, and well done? And is it not right and proper that he should be held responsible for all damages due to his failure?

* * * * *

It is the little things in life, or rather the things that appear little, or trivial, that catch us unawares, bump us, and trip us up unexpectedly. You may have gone down on a little word in spelling school when you could have stood up against all the big ones in the book.

This is the reason why we should keep well booked on everyday affairs. They may not seem to be of great importance, and individually and alone they may be trivial, but they may be the whole thing, or at least they could save the day if rightly employed.

In fact, the small and apparently insignificant things are to our lives what the multiplication table, and the rule of three are to our figuring out success in business.

The boy who can do a variety of domestic stunts, such as cooking, patching, nursing, and the like, will probably find the course of life less strenuous than he who has always felt himself to good, or too pretty, or too big, for such little business.

You may have suffered some yourself for lack of a familiar knowledge of some of these small accomplishments.

An East End neighbor sent the following tender lines to his wife after she had been down at the shore for a week, with only another week to stay:

"What is home without a mother?
What is all this stuff we eat,
Since her loving hands don't cook it?
Is it fish, or is it meat?

Marriage maybe is a failure,
At the point from which you look,
As for me, my name is "Dennis"
Since I cannot kiss the cook.

Hungry, lean and haggard am I,
And it's not for want of cash;
But I'm longing, mother, longing,
For your ne-plus-ultra hash.

Yes, we miss you mother, miss you!
How we miss you no one knows;
But especially I miss you
When I brush my Sunday clothes.

No, I've no one now to brush me,
Brush me down from crown to sole;
No one now to sternly see that
Every button's in its hole.

Miss you when my socks need darning;
Miss you from your vacant chair;
And most desperately I miss you
When I comb my Sunday hair.

For one lock upon my caput
Standing up about the crown,
Though I comb and brush and comb it,
That stubborn scalp lock won't stay down.

O, this life is scarce worth living;
Full of trouble is my cup.
With suspender buttons wanting,
My measly trousers won't stay up.

And at night when I am dreaming,
Blissful, free from all alarms,
I awaken, so disappointed,
With your pillow in my arms.

Somehow things do get lop-sided,
You're not here to make things whoop.
If you stay away much longer
We'll be strictly in the soup.

Now since one wife by her absence
Makes the whole of life seem blue,
So that all things might move smoothly
Should not every man have two?

* * * * *

Speaking of mother, and of her general usefulness in the home, one cannot help recalling her great skill and adroitness in applying small things where they would do most good.

This is set forth with much feeling in the following touching lines by one who feared to give his name, probably, because his mother is still alive, as full of vim and as ready for business as ever:

When the angry passion gathering in my mother's face I see,
And she leads me in the bedroom—gently lays
me on her knee,
Then I know that I will catch it, and my flesh
in fancy itches,
As I listen to the patter of the shingle on my breeches.

Every tinkle of the shingle has an echo and a sting,
And a thousand burning fancies into active being spring;
And a thousand bees and hornets 'neath my coat tail seem to swarm,
As I listen to the patter of the shingle, oh, so warm.

In a splutter comes my father—whom I supposed had gone—
To survey the situation and tell her to lay it on;
To see her bending o'er me as I listen to the strain,
Played by her and by the shingle, in a wild and weird refrain.

In a sudden intermission which appears my only chance,
I say: "Strike gently, mother, or you'll split my Sunday pants."
She stops a moment, draws her breath, the shingle holds aloft;
And says: "I had not thought of that, my son—just take them off."

Holy Moses and the angels, cast thy pitying glances down,
And thou, oh family doctor, put a good soft poultice on;
And may I with fools and idiots everlastingly commingle,
If I ever say another word wher my mother wields the shingle. —Anon.

Contagion of Mob Violence.

It is certain that the mob spirit is contagious, says Case and Comment. The triumph over law and order of a mob of reckless and criminal persons in one locality stimulates the same classes in every other locality. There is always in every populous community a considerable percentage of people criminal by instinct, and, though ordinarily cowed by public sentiment and the forces of the law into an outward respect for legal authority, are always on the watch for an opportunity to trample law under their feet. The passion of strikers often leads them to violence, but, except for the aid of the criminally disposed people of the community, riots by strikers would be far less numerous and serious. Little by little the mob spirit which has long been active in some localities has been spreading, until almost every issue of the daily press has news of some outbreak of lawlessness, too often successful and unpunished. Every triumphant mob emboldens criminals in every community to riot more readily and for less reason than before.

Sowden and Sauer Kraut.

The Hon. William H. Sowden of Lehigh went down to Berks county to make a speech the other day and stirred the Democracy up to a high pitch of excitement by denying the scandalous story that he is no longer fond of sauer kraut. He affirms that he likes it as much as he ever did. The story was probably circulated to destroy Mr. Sowden's popularity as a future candidate for congress in the district, but it has been nipped in the bud.—Philadelphia Press.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Automobilists here are discussing the great endurance race between this city and Pittsburgh, which is scheduled to begin on October 7. It is admitted that there is no city outside of New York in which the automobile holds a more important place than Pittsburgh. On this account, therefore, it is considered eminently fitting that the run should have that place as its objective point, the more so as the route, by way of the Catskills, Buffalo, Cleveland and Youngstown will be a severe test, and will establish the solidity of any machine which is able to cover it and still prove itself to be a good automobile. The run for each day will vary from 99 miles to 140 miles, and the roads will be of all kinds. For instance, over the Belden hill between Binghamton and Bath, it is thought some of the entries will give up the fight, while the 140 miles from Cleveland to Pittsburgh will be over an old postroad which is very easy. It is impressed on every one that this run will not be a race, and any automobilist forcing his machine to make a speed record will find himself thrown out of the contest, together with all machines he may have entered. As this is to be mainly a manufacturers' run, to test the relative merits of different makes of machines, there will be great deal of business interest mixed with the sporting spirit which must actuate every competition of this character.

Some One Might Ask for a Shave.

Charles M. Schwab has close interest in the proceedings of the barber who is acting as admiral of the fleet at the Crescent Shipbuilding Company's dock at Elizabethport. The barber is a deputy sheriff when he is not shaving chins and cutting hair, and he is holding five ships under a lien of $8,000. One of the vessels is the sidewheel steamer "Happy Day," which Mr. Schwab has had built to carry the school children of New York between this city and the new recreation park established by him on Staten island. The "Happy Day" is ready for her first trip, but until the barber deputy is called off will have to stay at the shipyard.

Where the Grey Matter Is Used.

Chess players in New York are much concerned over the case of the young Philadelphian, J. Henry Smythe, Jr., who became temporarily deranged by playing the game. There are many chess clubs in New York. Over in that quiet part of the East Side of Manhattan, where Avenues A and Second avenue are the main promenades, there are numerous sedate taverns where middle-aged men, mostly Germans, try to show to each other new and unbeatable gambits. Such old-fashioned problems as the "fool's mate" and the "scholar's mate" are dismissed contemptuously by them as no longer worth their consideration, while up to date combinations which seem absolutely impossible of solution, with such mysterious admonitions as "K. T. Q 3 white to move and mate in four moves" are light confectionery to them. It must be admitted that few of these earnest chess players seem likely to lose their wits, for they strike you as too well balanced for that. On the other hand, the maddening combinations which they offer for each others' consideration, and which are responded to by others seemingly more puzzling, must affect the brain somewhat. The only question is whether their influence is softening or hardening.

Watching for Rivals of Brodie.

The police at the Brooklyn bridge are watching it with more than usual vigilance. They know by experience that a suicide from it is always followed by other attempts. There was only an attempted suicide yesterday, but it was sensational enough to attract attention of other persons who are tired of life, or think they are, and every wild-eyed personage who goes on the roadway, especially on an open wagon or truck, is scanned closely by the policemen at the approach. A suicide from the bridge is a reflection on the officers.

New York's Latest Eviction.

It is not easy to conceive how men could prefer to eat, sleep and lie amid the foul odors of a dumping ground. Yet that has been the case with a number of Italian laborers here who worked on scows and at the docks whence the refuse of the city is discharged daily. A large number of men have actually had their homes, if such a term can be used, under the runaways from the pier to the scows, and have appeared to thrive there. The board of health has got after them, and they were evicted today.

Streets in Bad Shape.

Considering that Broadway is torn up badly in several places between Forty-second street and Union square, the agitation to prevent any further disturbance of the surface by rapid transit subway operations seems almost superfluous. Between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets, in front of the site of the old Sturtevant house, is a deep cavern extending the whole block and taking half the roadway. It spoils the block, although so far as the Sturtevant site is concerned it does no harm except to pedestrians. At Herald square chaos has reigned for a month. What with the city tearing up a block or two to relay pipes, and the Metropolitan Company changing its electric power where Broadway and Sixth avenue cross Thirty-fourth street, ordinary traffic has a difficult time of it. There are other spots where trouble exists notably at Union square, where the broad space at the north end is full of paving stones which are in process of removal. It might be worse if a ditch were dug along Broadway, but not much.

Pittsburgher Goes to Europe.

On board the White Star liner Arabic, which sailed for Liverpool today, was J. G. Pontefract of Pittsburgh.

De Gang Has Him Scratched.

The "Five Points gang," which has had many a "Homeric battle" with the Cherry Hill gang in the course of the last year, assailed the common enemy in the shape of a respectable citizen early this morning. It was at the Grand street stairway of the Third avenue "L," and the citizen, who had come from Boston to "see the sights," was seeing them. Happily he was a big, stout fellow and had floored three of the ruffians when a policeman came. The Boston man has gone home, and one of the "Five Points gang," who lives in the fragrant purlieus of Baxter street, is a prisoner. The significant part of it all is that the policeman is convinced he is "a marked man." He is the policeman who arrested "Piggy" Donovan for murder. Now that he has dared to arrest another thug, he knows, he says, that the gang will kill him the first time they can catch him unawares.

The Balkan Revolt.

News of the Balkan revolt will, we imagine, be pretty widely received with a certain grim satisfaction, or at least with resignation. It has long been evident that that part of the world is, in Hibernian phrase, "spoiling for a fight." It has been regarded as certain that sooner or later there must be a serious conflict there. That being the case, we may confidently say, the sooner the better. The longer such a struggle is delayed, the worse it is likely to be when it does come. Besides, the longer it is delayed, the longer will be the preliminary campaign of kidnaping women and murdering men and levying blackmail and all the other variegated deviltries with which the Bulgarian propagandists have made the world familiar.

We are not sure but that there will also be some grim satisfaction over the announcement that the sultan will employ Albanian troops for the suppression of the revolt. There is an old phrase, "dog eat dog," which not a few will apply to such a conflict. The Bulgars of Macedonia are chiefly brigands—at least the militant ones. So are the Arnauts of Albania. Between the two there is little choice, though the preference is probably to be given to the Arnauts. They bathe oftener and are more picturesque. When the two tribes meet, each will find in the other a foe worthy of its steel—or hemp, or torch, or whatever weapon may be the favorite.

There was once much American sympathy with the so-called "Christian" peoples of the Balkans, aroused by the generous work of Messrs. Schuyler and MacGahan. We fancy it has mostly been dissipated by such incidents as the kidnaping of Prince Alexander, the murder of Stephen Stambouloff, the abduction of Miss Stone and the butchery of the Servian king and queen. The Turkish government of Macedonia is doubtless not good, but it may be questioned whether it is any worse than the governments of Bulgaria and Servia. At any rate, so long as Turkey is held responsible for the government of Macedonia, she must be permitted to maintain her authority there.—New York Tribune.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The outcome of the campaign between the Turks and the Macedonian revolutionists cannot be questioned. The latter lack the necessary resources to continue long to put up a distinctive fight, although they may, for many months, foment trouble and conduct a bushwhacking belligerency. Their only hope of ultimate success lies in arousing the powers of Europe to intervention to prevent atrocities and thus precipitating the long-delayed readjustment of the sultan's affairs. Their argument is that their last state cannot well be worse than or as bad as their first, inasmuch as under any other suzerains than Turkey they would probably be granted at least some degree of religious and civil liberty, whereas now they are persecuted on every possible pretext. * * * At Constantinople the note is regarded as a menace to the Bulgarian government. Any direct move toward disciplining that government may have the immediate effect of arousing Russia, whose interests are virtually paramount in that quarter, despite the technical obligation of Bulgaria to Turkey.—Washington Star.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The most serious aspect of the news about an outbreak of revolution in Macedonia at last is that Turkey takes it seriously. She has incontinently dropped the "reform" program, forced upon her by Austria and Russia, and, far from withdrawing troops from Macedonia, is straining every nerve to throw in more. Her circular notifying the powers is as ominous as the more or less authentic announcement of the Macedonian committee that the long-threatened revolution is finally let loose.—New York Evening Post.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The Bulgarians and the Macedonians are in perpetual revolt. There is no concealment of their undying hostility, nor any end to their conspiracies. * * * We need no more eloquent illustration than that furnished by the Miss Stone incident, where, as will be remembered, an American missionary was captured by Bulgarian brigands and held for ransom, and where the money, as everybody now knows, was turned over to the Macedonian revolutionary committee. Of course, there must be an end to a situation so perilous and shameful, and of course there will be, reached through bloodshed and desolation. Such is to be the harvest of England's malign and selfish policy in the Balkans.—Washington Post.

\+ \+ \+ \+

That there is tumult among the unfortunate subjects of the sultan in eastern Roumania no one doubts. They have been restless ever since England and Germany tore up the treaty of San Stefano and restored Macedonia to the Turkish yoke. That they have been cruelly treated by their masters and deprived of many of the privileges guaranteed them by the Berlin treaty is well known in every court in Europe, and only the fear of involving the great powers has stayed the hands of the governments from putting a stop to the Turkish atrocities.

Whether Europe will permit the sultan under any pretext to send large bodies of troops into Macedonia is the question that gives to the news from Constantinople its special significance. Her own subjects Turkey has a right to keep in order. Will public opinion in any nation in Europe outside of Russia permit her to massacre men and women whom she has driven into frenzy? Political conditions are all on the sultan's side, but even they may have to give way if he pushes his advantage too far.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Perhaps a Gyascutis.

Once more we have the story of a scientific man who claims to have produced life by chemical reaction. Strangely enough, this modern magician comes from Indiana. He has taken, so he says, some salt, water, alcohol and ammonia, and in a brief time produced certain amoeba of "hexagonal shape," all in the space of an hour and a half. Most unfortunately, the experiments never seem to have progressed beyond this stage, which is a pity, since it might have turned out an elephant, perhaps a Kyaschds.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Test of Unionism.

If we intrust trade unionism with the control of the labor supply of the United States we shall expect it to exercise its control in such a way as to make labor more effective instead of less effective. By that test will trade unionism stand or fall.—Chicago Tribune.

LONG-DISTANCE TROLLEY ROADS

Charters Granted for Two Links in the Chain Between Pittsburgh and Beaver Valley.

BACKED BY PHILADELPHIANS

Lines Operated by a Traction Company Have Been So Profitable That Costly Extensions Are Projected—Work Begins in the Fall.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Charters were granted at Harrisburg yesterday to two traction companies which propose to build important links in the trolley system connecting Pittsburgh with the Beaver Valley. The officers of both companies are Philadelphia capitalists and the promoters of the entire line ostensibly are Philadelphians, but it is believed that they are the same men who were reported to be interested with Murry A. Verner and other Pittsburghers in the development of the traction facilities of the territory between New Castle and this city.

The two companies will construct 13 miles of trolley roads between Aliquippa, Coraopolis and Monaca. Interests identified with the same project are connected with the Beaver Valley Traction Company, which now operates 35 miles of traction lines in Western Pennsylvania. The work of construction will begin early in the fall.

The charters were as follows: To the Coraopolis & Aliquippa Electric Street Railway Company, to build five miles of road, beginning on the public highway in Shousetown, Crescent township, Allegheny county, and extending through Shousetown, Stoops Ferry and Coraopolis. The capital is $30,000; president, William Redwood Wright of Philadelphia.

To the Monaca & Aliquippa Electric Street Railway Company, to build 10 miles of road, beginning at Monaca, Beaver county, and extending through the townships of Moon and Hopewell to Aliquippa. The capital is $60,000; president, William Redwood Wright of Philadelphia. The directors, all Philadelphians, are W. Frederick Snyder, Sydney L. Wright, William Henry Snyder and Walter T. Bilyue.

In discussing the new charters and the proposed plans of the company to a correspondent for The Gazette in Philadelphia last night W. Frederick Snyder said:

"The lines now operated by the Beaver Valley Traction Company start 18 miles north of Pittsburgh, run through 15 different boroughs and to a point 14 miles from New Castle. So prosperous has been the business of the company during the past year, the gross earnings having increased about 124 per cent, that the directors decided to extend the system through Aliquippa, Coraopolis and Monaca, the idea being to connect Pittsburgh and New Castle. To that end the new lines were chartered and construction work will begin in the fall. The contract for the work has been awarded to A. H. Engstron, a Philadelphia constructing engineer."

READY FOR PIG IRON.

United States Steel Company Prepares to Make an Extensive Purchase.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—The United States Steel Corporation wants 75,000 to 100,000 tons of pig iron for delivery during the remainder of the year, and it will be in the market at an early date. Next week the pig iron committee of the corporation will formulate the schedule of its pig iron needs for the rest of this quarter and for the fourth quarter, and will then buy in the market.

It is expected that the corporation's purchases will result in increased activity among consumers who have been holding off or buying simply for temporary needs. The present price of Bessemer pig iron is $18.85, Pittsburgh, which is nearly $1 a ton lower than when the Steel Corporation made its last purchase.

BASIS OF SETTLEMENT.

Talbot J. Taylor & Co. Offer to Pay Creditors 50 Cents on the Dollar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Talbot J. Taylor & Co. today offered to settle with all creditors on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar. London creditors, to whom is due about $250,000, have already agreed to accept the settlement, but this is conditional on the "office customers" accepting the same rate. These latter have due them about $900,000.

It is the intention of the Taylors, if the customers accept this settlement, to pay the other 50 per cent voluntarily as fast as it can be done out of the proceeds of the rejuvenated business.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—William Rose, 23 years old, who was formerly ticket agent on the elevated railway, pleaded guilty to grand larceny before Recorder Goff today and was sentenced to the Elmira reformatory. On July 21 Rose disappeared with $200 of the elevated railway company's money. He was arrested in Washington. Rose says he wanted money to bet on the horses.

Lake Erie railroad detectives started a crusade yesterday on train jumpers at the McKees Rocks yards. They succeeded in capturing 29 men and boys and bringing them before Justice of the Peace W. R. Nicholson of Esplen, who sentenced them to jail for terms ranging from 10 to 20 days.

Engine Demolished the Office.

Through the fault of a switch a locomotive running light towards the train shed of the Union station yesterday ran on to a short siding, and before the engineer could check the speed of the engine it had completely demolished the office of Assistant Yardmaster W. C. Greve. Nobody was injured.

PASTOR OF ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH WANTED IN BALTIMORE

THE REV. W. E. SCHRAMM.

The Rev. W. E. Schramm, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Allegheny, has received a call from the congregation of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Baltimore, and he has called a meeting of his congregation for Monday evening, August 17, at which time he will present his resignation with a view to accepting the Baltimore call. Whether he will ultimately accept the call depends upon the action St. Paul's congregation takes on the resignation.

Mr. Schramm has been pastor of the Allegheny congregation for nearly eight years past. He came here from Columbus, O., where he preached for two years following his graduation from the Capital university at Columbus. St. Paul's congregation has prospered under his ministration and now numbers about 400 communicants. The Baltimore congregation is larger than the one in Allegheny.

CATHOLIC TEMPERANCE CONVENTION IS OVER

Formation of National Sacerdotal League Feature of the Close of C. T. A. U. Meeting.

Business sessions of the thirty-third annual national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union closed yesterday, and last night nearly all the delegates had returned to their homes. The last session of the convention was made memorable in Catholic temperance circles by the organization of the National Sacerdotal league of America, composed of priests and bishops of the church, the membership being confined to those of the Catholic clergy who are total abstainers.

The league was organized in the parlors of the Hotel Henry. About 100 priests took part in the conclave, and the following officers were elected: Honorary president, the Most Rev. Archbishop Elder of Cincinnati; president, the Rev. Father Siebenfoerker, Canton, O.; secretary and treasurer, the Rev. Father P. J. Mullen of Boston.

During the afternoon the visiting delegates were shown places of interest around the city. A large party boarded the steamboat Francis J. Torrance and sailed up the Monongahela river to Braddock, where they inspected the Edgar Thomson steel works. The final reception in honor of the delegates was given last night at Kennywood park by the Rev. John G. Beane Tourist club. The next national convention will be held in St. Louis in August, 1904.

MAYOR ORDERED OFFICER FREED

Kennedy Released Without a Hearing on the Charge of Assaulting His Superior.

TALK OF UNFAIR TREATMENT

Business Men Pleaded With the City Executive in Behalf of the Policeman. After Hearing by Police Board He Will Return to Duty.

Mayor Hays is trying to effect peace in Supt. McTighe's family of policemen. Yesterday he interceded in behalf of Officer John Kennedy, who has been arrested several times during the last few days for fighting with his superior officers, and order him released without the payment of fines or even a hearing. Police Magistrate Stewart ordered Kennedy to be taken from his cell and sent to his home at No. 1114 Vickroy street. Mayor Hays is alleged to have said that Kennedy was the victim of grudges entertained against him by Capt. Matthew Gorman and Lieut. Charles Grimes, and he would not tolerate his imprisonment any longer under those conditions.

Kennedy was arrested the second time for striking Grimes in Wylie avenue. His hearing was set for yesterday morning, but postponed. Later it was learned that Mayor Hays had sent word to Magistrate Stewart to release Kennedy at once. Kennedy was retained at the Central police station until after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and was then released.

When seen Kennedy said that he had been drinking, and for that reason forgot himself when he thought of the unfair treatment he had received from Gorman and Grimes. He claims these officers have been trying to secure his discharge since they went into office. It is also said that Kennedy is not liked by Supt. McTighe. The latter claims that Kennedy is not an efficient officer.

In spite of the opinion of Supt. McTighe a number of business men in Fourth avenue went to Mayor Hays yesterday in behalf of Kennedy. They spoke of his excellent record and at their solicitation Mayor Hays directed Kennedy's release.

Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety said that Kennedy's record was a good one prior to his assault on Gorman and Grimes.

"Kennedy's case will be brought before the police board," said the director, "and as the board is a fair one, there is no doubt that he will be placed on his beat again. He will probably be reprimanded by the board for his conduct."

Policeman Harry Glenn of No. 8 station house, South Side, who was arrested Thursday night on a charge of disorderly conduct, was fined $1 and costs yesterday morning by Police Magistrate Vitchestaio. The fine was paid and Glenn was released.

HEADS OF BUREAUS ARE NOW AT ODDS

Friction Between the Superintendent of Police and Detectives Has Developed.

MAYOR HAYS TAKES A HAND

Friction has developed between the police and detective bureaus. Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe is working in direct opposition to Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide. The officers of the former bureau are active in their efforts to surpass the work of the front office men. It was rumored about the safety building yesterday that Superintendent McQuaide was seriously considering tendering his resignation to Director Moore. McTighe, it is said, has incurred the disapproval of Mayor Hays and his removal is rumored.

The friction between the police and detective bureau was manifested shortly after Superintendent McQuaide was appointed to office. Reports of robberies were kept from him. Recently a murder was committed about 10 o'clock at night in the Hazelwood district. It was 2 o'clock on the following morning when this matter was made known to the detective bureau. Of the many robberies that were committed in the Oakland district Superintendent McQuaide's men were never informed.

The reports were made directly to McTighe's office and his plain clothes men were detailed to make an investigation of the cases. The assistance of the detectives was not solicited by McTighe. The results of the investigations made by his plain clothes men was not made known to McQuaide.

It is said that McQuaide complained to Director Moore of the lax methods employed by McTighe's men in reporting cases to his office.

Director Moore is said to have refused to interfere in the matter, claiming that "both men were friends of his."

Several times the plain clothes officers of Superintendent McTighe and the front office men of Superintendent McQuaide have met on cases when each was under the impression that the other had no knowledge of the case.

Several weeks ago a mysterious poisoning case was reported to the police. The report was immediately sent to Superintendent McTighe. The detective bureau was not notified until the coroner asked Superintendent McQuaide if he had made an investigation of the affair. Learning that he had not, the coroner immediately reported the case to him, and as a result both bureaus investigated, when the work could have been accomplished by one.

It is well known that Superintendent McQuaide has been annoyed by the lack of harmony between the police and detective bureaus. Under the present conditions the front office men are useless about the safety building. Cases investigated by the safety department cost twice as much as formerly. Work that was executed by the detectives now is done by McTighe's plain clothes men, and when the detectives are notified of the case they make an additional investigation, which at that late hour is unnecessary. McTighe's plain clothes men are known as the "Scotland Yard men." It was learned last night that the dissension had been carried to Mayor Hays and it is said that he will make an investigation of the trouble.

DEAF MUTES DANCED TO ORCHESTRA MUSIC

Strange Scenes Witnessed at Picnic — Crowds Enjoyed Day of Silence and Fun.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 7.—A large crowd of people today saw deaf mutes dancing to music. The state convention of these people concluded here today, when the delegates went to Roxbury park to enjoy a picnic. The deaf mutes played baseball, ran foot races and played tag. It was a day of silence and fun.

The feature, however, was the dancing to the music of an orchestra, though not a note did they hear. They kept the step with the precision and grace of those more fortunate. How they did it is still a puzzle to the spectators, but it has been explained that one couple could hear, and that the rest followed their movements.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OIL CITY, PA., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—About 400 members of the Sixteenth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, who participated in the Porto Rican campaign, held their first reunion here today, the fifth anniversary of the battle of Coamo. The day was spent in renewing acquaintances and in the afternoon the veterans donned their old campaign uniforms and passed in review before their former commander, Col. Willis J. Hulings, and staff. Hulings was brevetted a brigadier general in recognition of his services during the war.

Letters of regret were read from Gen. Ernst, brigade commander, and Gen. Wilson, division commander. In the evening a dinner was served, followed by a dance and reception at the Park auditorium. At the business session Major John M. Reed was elected president of the association, and it was decided to have annual reunions, the next one at New Castle.

Addresses were made by Gen. John Wiley, Capt. Daniel Fisher, Col. Hulings, Lieutenant Colonel Reckards, of Oil City; Major Fred Windsor of Warren, Capt. A. D. Burns of Bradford, and Capt. Jack Austin of Corry. Although distinctly an oil region regiment, it was reorganized when ordered to Porto Rico and companies located at New Castle, Grove City, Kittanning and Jeannette were attached to it.

Doctor Tucker's New and Wonderful Mechanical Device With Which He Is Bringing About More Cures of Bronchial and Lung Troubles, Restoring to More Deaf People the Lost Sense of Hearing, and Curing More Catarrhal Diseases Than Ever Was Known in the Medical Profession.

This wonderful apparatus has revolutionized the treatment of all chronic diseases. It is composed of a number of glass cells, each of which contains a remedy for a certain diseased condition, the remedy being dissolved and incorporated in oil, so that when the instrument is put into use the mixture is converted into an oily, smoke-like vapor, which can be easily driven into every cavity of the body, and which will positively cure all of the diseases in the treatment of which it is applied. It cures

BRONCHIAL AND LUNG TROUBLES

by inhalation. The vapor is formed, the patient is instructed how to breathe, the medicated vapor is carried deep down into the lung cells, coating over the mucous surfaces not only of the bronchial tubes, but of all the tissues of the lungs, removing all mucous accumulations, killing all germs, and relieving pain, shortness of breath, coughing, and in fact all the symptoms attendant upon such diseases. It cures all forms of which are curable, by another oily medicant, which is forced through the Eustachian tubes up into the middle ear, and which effectively cures suppurative discharges, head noises and partial or complete deafness. It cures of the entire system by being absorbed through the lymphatics and through the glandular structure of the mucous membranes.

Doctor Tucker will not increase his charges for services on account of this new and remarkable method of treatment, but will still continue to give to everyone the advantage of his low fee system which he, and he alone, has maintained throughout fourteen years of steady, successful practice. His charges will remain at which includes all medicines. Every one should avail to the expense of the workings of Doctor Tucker's office, but the people have appreciated his services in the past, and in confident that he will increase his usefulness to chronic sufferers ten-fold by the use of this ready aced form of application. This itself is sufficient to repay him for the extra effort and expense.

OUR 50% discount sale started on Wednesday and already the men of Pittsburgh have manifested an interest and enthusiasm in this sale that bids fair to make it the greatest in the history of clothing selling. Fortune never played more fortunately into your hands—and to the man who is quick to grasp opportunities, this half-off-the-marked-price offer of our entire clothing stock means most unusual money-saving chances. We pride ourselves on being progressive clothing merchants, and this all-including reduction sale is the direct outcome of our policy never to carry goods over from one season to another. This sale is based on absolute fairness with an honest motive for its guiding star—we are sacrificing legitimate profits, taking great losses willingly, to dispose of our spring and summer clothing stock. We do not say these suits or overcoats are "worth" $20 and you need pay only $10, but WE DO state: Here are the regular plainly marked prices and from these you can deduct 50%. You are privileged to select from thousands of garments, including all of last fall and spring overcoats, Cravenette rain coats, together with all men's pants. (The only exceptions being the full dress suits, uniforms and coachmen's liveries.) The old prices have been left intact, simply make your selection and pay the salesman just half the marked price on the tag.

The women's shoes embrace all the popular styles of the season, and are made from fine imported kid, vici kid and patent leather, with turn, mock welt and heavy welt sole.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

URBANA, ILL., Aug. 7.—Acting Manager Hans Wagner led the Pirates up against a stiff proposition in the shape of the All Stars, the local team, composed of Illinois university student players, but the Pirates won by a score of 7 to 2, their timely hitting in the seventh inning clinching the game.

Pitcher Falkenberg, a product of the University of Illinois, was in the form and fanned his former team mates with ease. Falkenberg only gave seven scattered hits and Pfeffer, a freshman pitcher who had never before faced a strong team, was the local slab artist. He made good, however, striking out Wagner twice, also striking out a number of other Pirates.

The All Stars started the ball rolling by tallying a run in the first inning and also tallied in the fourth by Parker's home run. Pittsburgh also tallied in the fourth, but did not become dangerous until the seventh. By bunching six hits they scored five runs and pocketed the game beyond a doubt.

The batting of Sam Leever was a feature of the game. He got a home run and two singles. Wagner attempted to play his position at short without a glove, but after handling several hot ones thought better of it and donned his mitt. Score by innings:

EQUAL DIVISION.

Boston Wins and Loses With Hanlon's Superbas.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Brooklyn won the first game of a double-header from Boston today, 6 to 4, in 10 innings, but lost the second, 6 to 3. Boston made the first game exciting by tieing a seemingly hopeless score in the ninth. Malarkey was easy in the extra inning, whereas Garvin braced. The locals batched their hits along with poor playing by Flood toward the end of the second game. Williams was wild, but Brooklyn threw away the chance he gave by heedless base running. Dobbs and McCreery made good catches in the field. Boston fielded cleverly in both games. Scores:

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—New York took both games of a double-header today from Philadelphia. In neither contest did the visitors show to any great advantage, their play being slow. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—When the P. A. C. team goes on the field here to play against the local team tomorrow the players will have as an additional incentive to win the knowledge that Charles M. Schwab, the great steel magnate, is watching them. Mr. Schwab was invited to occupy one of the boxes by the local management and readily consented to do so. A ball will be tossed out to the players by Mr. Schwab when play is called.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Aug. 7.—"As a referee I feel that it would be indelicate for me to express my opinion," says Edward Graney. "Still I have not one to express for, as summing up the chances of the two men, based upon their exhibition three years ago in New York, it is too hard for me to make a pick.

"I visited Jeffries a few weeks ago. The big fellow was rounding into shape and looked even at that early day almost fit. I have no doubt but what he is at present. I visited Corbett yesterday. Jim looks bigger and stronger than any time before in his life. This I may say without reservation, for I have known Corbett intimately for over 20 years.

"I was never one of those who claimed that Corbett could not punch; I have seconded too many men against him to think that. From what I have observed during my several visits to his training quarters, he looks to be able to hit better than ever. I don't look for a very hard task in refereeing the battle. Both men are too well acquainted with the rules to transgress them, and better than all, I have found each of them gentlemen."

HOTELS ARE NOW AT A PREMIUM

Big Excursion Yesterday Filled Many of the Atlantic City Hostelries.

FOUR THOUSAND IN ONE DAY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier, ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 7.

Over 4,000 people from points beyond Pittsburgh arrived in this city today and immediately placed hotel accommodations at a premium. Although the first of the seven sections that came over the Pennsylvania did not arrive until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, all the visitors had been safely housed and were enjoying the boardwalk before 6 o'clock. To many the sight of the ocean was a novelty. They gathered in small groups along the famous promenade and gazed with wonder seaward. In a short while they were besieging the bathing houses to secure robes for their initial plunge in the surf. In addition to the number of excursionists who came over the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, there were fully 2,000 more who arrived this morning from the region traversed by the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

P. M.'s to Meet at Atlantic.

Mayor Stoy has sent in from Boston the cheering news that the next postmasters' convention is to be held in this city. Together with Postmaster Bacharach, he went to Boston, where the convention of 1902 has just closed, for the purpose of bringing the next one here, and he succeeded. The odds were tremendously in favor of St. Louis, but the mayor's persuasive powers, coupled with Atlantic City's famous attractions, won the day against the great exposition city.

Jetty Hearing Postponed.

The war department is having quite a time over the proposition of public spirited citizens here to construct a jetty at the inlet and thus bring about a safer channel and a better anchorage for yachts. The department had set aside a date for a public hearing on this question, but has notified Mayor Stoy that its plans are changed and the hearing will not be accorded until August 18.

Two "Flim-Flammers" Caught.

That Atlantic City is not a place where the men of sharp practices can survive is evidenced by the arrest of George Frere and Leon Harris, who the police say are from Pittsburgh, on the technicality known as "flim-flamming," that is, giving short change on the adroit slipping of a bill. While both men were discharged, the arrest will make others more particular in dealing with visitors.

Pittsburghers Are Preacher's Guests.

Mrs. Walter Scarborough of Pittsburgh and her daughter have been the guests here of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Stanley of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Stanley, who recently returned from a trip to California, is one of Atlantic City's greatest lecturers.

Watermelon, Cabbage and Crabs.

It was a frightful combination that killed Mrs. Bunn of North Michigan avenue yesterday afternoon. She gorged of watermelon, cabbage and crabs and died in agony. Her screams were heard at a distance of half a block. Acute indigestion was the cause of the demise.

To Fill In Old Ocean.

The water at the upper end of Heinz's pier is to undergo an experiment in the way of a filling in process. The work has aroused the attention of the army engineer corps, whose representative will come here to witness the experiment. The boundaries of solid earth are said to be extended into what is now the domain of the sea, and beach front owners in that locality expect to add acres of valuable land to their present holdings. Dr. Dick, one of the owners, has under construction a number of large timber caissons, 18 feet in length, six feet in width and seven in depth, which, when completed, will be filled with sand and sunk at the beach boundary and on the edge of the bar. The effect of these timber boxes is expected to be to slacken the current at the points where they are to be placed, and thus cause a deposit of the floating sand alongside, adding a bar to the shore and thus extending the line of the latter out to a line parallel with the outwardly limit of the pier.

THE EGANS WILL FIGHT THE FINISH

Honor of the Amateur Golf Champion Now Lies Between the Two Cousins.

WARM CONTEST FOR FINALS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—The finals in the western amateur golf championship have been reached and two Chicago golfers are again to meet each other for the western championship. They are H. Chandler Egan of Exmoor and his cousin, Walter Egan, also of Exmoor. This morning they defeated their rivals in the semi-finals. Chandler disposing of Dr. Russell of Detroit, 2 up, and Walter Egan defeating E. Brown of Cleveland, 1 up. Both matches were exceedingly close and were not decided until the 18th hole. The Brown-W. Egan match was the most hotly contested of the two.

After a nerve-racking match on the upper course, in which Brown gave Walter Egan a bad scare, the Chicago boy won on the 18th hole, 1 up. Brown went to the bunker, was well out and made a good approach, but Egan had a 40-foot putt from the edge of the green.

At the tenth Brown won by Egan's hard luck in slicing out of the course. Brown also won the 17th and made it even up. The 12th, 13th and 14th holes were halved in four, both making some remarkable putts. Brown won the 16th by one stroke and the 16th was halved through some fine playing on Egan's part, as he was in the ditch on his drive. Brown lost the 17th hole through some hard luck, getting into the bunkers and slicing to the rough grass.

It all depended on the 18th hole, as it was even up, and Brown again went into the bunkers on his second shot. Egan was on the green in 3, on the very edge, but he holed a 40-foot putt for the match. C. Egan had Raymond Russell 1 up on the 17th hole, and on the 18th Russell sliced his second shot to some trees and was unable to get out in 3, conceding the hole to Egan, who was on the green in 2. The match was a see-saw to the 16th, and for 12 holes it was not even up once.

Tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock the two Egans meet for the finals, 36 holes.

INVENTOR JOHN BRISLIN MAY TAKE AN APPEAL

He Has but One Chance to Carry Suit to United States Supreme Court.

John Brislin, the aged inventor, and his attorney, J. Negley Cooke, have not given up all hope as a result of the decision against them handed down by the United States court of appeals, which reversed Judge J. W. Buffington's decision in the patent case against the Carnegie company.

The decision has not yet reached Attorney Cooke, but it is likely it will come today or Monday. Mr. Cooke yesterday received word from the clerk of the court that the decision was on its way here. At present Mr. Cooke does not know what course will be adopted. He is not aware whether there were any dissenting opinions attached to the decision handed down by Judge Gray.

Mr. Cooke intimated yesterday that it is possible the case may be taken into the United States supreme court. He claims there is a precedent for this in a former patent case in which Andrew Carnegie was interested, and which was won after the superior court had reversed the circuit court and had been taken to the supreme court.

In a case involving so much money Mr. Cooke stated every possible effort will be made to secure another verdict. Appeals from the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals are allowed in only three instances. If there is a division of the judges on the question, and this is certified to by the court, an appeal is allowed; if the matter involves the jurisdiction of the court, or the construction of some act of congress. No such question arose in the case, and it is assumed that only if there was a division among the judges an appeal can be taken. This will not be known until the decision reaches here.

ENGLISH TENNIS PAIR SCORE ANOTHER POINT

Americans Lose by Three Sets to Two and Must Win Today to Hold the Cup.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The British pair, R. F. and H. L. Doherty, scored another point for the international lawn tennis trophy today by defeating R. D. and G. L. Wrenn, Jr., the American pair, three sets to one, before 4,000 persons at the Longwood Cricket club, the scores being 7-5, 2-6, 6-3.

The record now stands two to one in favor of the challengers, and tomorrow two more matches in singles will be played, so that the Americans must win both to retain the cup. In points today the British team had the advantage 140 to 131, but the scores and points fail to show the all-round superiority of the visitors. They excelled the American pair in nearly every department of the game, handling the high lobs, which their opponents relied upon almost entirely to win points, with an ease and skill that was surprising. The Americans won the toss and took the service and started out strong by winning the first game, a love game on three errors by the British pair and a place shot. The visitors took the next and the game, which was 5-5, was hard fill. The Dohertys then won G. L. Wrenn's service and finally took the set in a long deuce game.

It was again the Wrenns' service at the start of the second set and once more they won a love game. In this set the two Americans played continually at R. F. Doherty and won many points through his apparent favoring of his lame arm. The points on the second set were:

Doherty brothers, 0, 4, 2, 4, 2, 4, 2, 4, 5, 1, 2, 4, 1, 4, 4, 4—47 9.

Wrenn brothers, 4, 1, 4, 1, 4, 2, 4, 1, 3, 4, 4, 0, 4, 0, 2 2—40—7.

After the first two games in the third set the Doherty brothers began to slacken in the speed of their game, and although there were many sensational returns the Wrenns apparently had no difficulty in winning.

Doherty brothers, 3, 4, 1, 4, 4, 2, 1, 2—21—2.

Wrenn brothers, 6, 0, 4, 6, 1, 4, 4 4—28—6.

The hope which was so revived in the hearts of the supporters of the Americans through the ease with which their favorites won their third set was still further increased by the taking of the two first games in the fourth set. The first game was the hardest fought of the match, deuce being called five times before the Wrenns won out. There seemed to be still further encouragement when they took the next game on R. F. Doherty's service, but the visitors won the next four in rapid succession although the Wrenns had every chance to win the sixth, being at one time forty love. The visitors, however, pulled it out, and this was the beginning of the end. The Wrenns managed to win the next game, the seventh, but after that G. L. Wrenn weakened rapidly so that the visitors had no difficulty in winning the set and match. The points follow:

Doherty brothers, 7, 1, 4, 4, 5, 0, 4, 4—33—6.

Wrenn brothers, 9, 4, 3, 1, 2, 2, 4 2 0—26—3.

The record—R. F. and H. L. Doherty defeated R. D. and G. L. Wrenn Jr., 7-5, 6-7, 2-6, 6-3.

PARK IN DARKNESS.

Expert Linemen Stole the Wire That Carried Current to the Lamps.

The police of the West End are looking for some men who on Wednesday last climbed electric light poles outside of West End park, at Main and Wabash streets, and stole hundreds of dollars' worth of wire. The work was done by expert linemen who represented themselves as employes of the Allegheny County Light Company.

The wire stolen lights the plank road which partly surrounds the park. The lights in the park were not touched. W. A. Forsyth, superintendent of the park, stated yesterday that every effort is being made to apprehend the thieves. He said they were dressed as linemen and did not act at all suspiciously.

SOCIETY

AMID the regrets of the children and with a final burst of merriment, the vacation schools and playgrounds in Pittsburgh closed at noon yesterday. The little ones, who have gathered together each day for so many weeks and whose lives have been influenced for the better by the days spent so enjoyably, were loth to part with their teachers, to whom they had become very much attached. As yesterday was the last day of the season, the usual program was in most instances set aside and the morning devoted to pleasure alone. An enjoyable feature at each school was the serving of refreshments just before the dismissal.

The Allegheny schools will remain open for another week, as they did not begin their work for a week after the Pittsburgh schools. Flower day will be celebrated at the five grounds in the sister city next week. With blossoms surrounding them the flower committee worked hard and faithfully yesterday at the central Young Women's Christian association rooms in Fifth street. About 4,700 bunches of flowers were distributed to the schools, over 200 more than the week previous. Among the contributors were Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Mrs. William Flinn, Mrs. W. H. Schoen, Mrs. William Carr, Mrs. Alexander Peacock, Mrs. D. M. Clemson, Mrs. A. G. Campbell, Miss Annie Robinson, Miss Carrie Storer of Elizabeth, Mrs. C. W. Roberts, Mrs. Walker Cheff, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Mrs. Emil Winter, who sent a check for $10, and the usual number of florists who have always so generously responded to the calls from the committee. The committee desires to thank the young women of the association for the use of their rooms through the five weeks of the vacation school season. On the committee are a number of very young girls, who have been faithful and earnest workers in the flower day, these little women having been among the first to volunteer their services and the last to leave the rooms after the work was done. The committee is composed of Miss Eliza Armstrong, chairman; Mrs. H. A. Linesweaver, vice chairman; Mrs. W. S. Lynne, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. John Cowley, Mrs. O. S. Docker, Mrs. A. G. Holmes, Mrs. A. G. Campbell, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. E. T. Clafford, Miss Biggert, Miss Martha Biggert, Miss M. E. Stevenson, Miss Elizabeth Eaton, Miss Marie Hemmick, Miss Dorothea Cheff and sister, Miss Anne Darsey, Miss Eleanor Watson and Miss Charlotte Schwartz.

Pleasant Birthday Party.

The members of the Birmingham Dramatic club of the South Side were guests recently at a birthday party at which Miss Eileen Lancaster was hostess. The affair was planned in honor of the sixteenth birthday anniversary of the hostess, and was attended by about 30 guests. Among those present were Miss Gladys Hall, Miss Mabel Hastings, Miss Kate Lancaster, Miss Gladys Fisher, Miss Sydney Spargo, Miss Mathilda Gross, Miss Dorothy Lancaster, Miss Lancaster, Miss Clara Davis, Miss Ethel Izon, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Florence Hastings, Miss Mollie Sauter, Miss Hattie Thomas, Miss Lillie Fisher, Richard Reading, Fred Monks, Homer Spargo, Charles Gross, Cedric Lancaster, Louis Gerdler, Martin Kroll, William Cain, Walter Bowman, Charles Sauter and Herbert Bowman. The house was prettily decorated, Japanese lanterns forming the chief adornment.

Ward—Evans.

The marriage of Miss Edna Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ward, and William Carothers Evans, superintendent of the Howard axle works at Homestead, took place recently. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Arthur D. Mink in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The wedding was a home event, taking place at 6 o'clock last Tuesday evening. The ceremony was followed by a reception and supper, after which the bride and bridegroom left on a short wedding trip. Quite a number of social affairs preceded the wedding. On last Friday the members of the bride party were entertained by Miss Nellie Hockensmith, a kitchen shower being given the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, the parents of the bride, gave a handsome dinner at their home during the early part of this week.

Juvenile Court Department.

The regular monthly meeting of the juvenile court department of the permanent civic committee of women's clubs was held yesterday morning at the rooms of the Twentieth Century club in Duquesne way. No special business was transacted, the monthly routine being carried out. Miss Kate C. McKnight, president of the civic committee, presided at the meeting. Although a large attendance was desired and asked for in the call issued for the meeting last week, very few of the members responded, as a number of them are absent from home.

Entertaining a Baltimore Guest.

Miss Winifred Valient of Baltimore is the house guest of the Misses Lowry of Hays street, East End. Miss Valient came to Pittsburgh from Canal Dover, O., where she was a member of a house party given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reams. Miss Valient is well known in the city through several visits made to friends. Her stay will be of several weeks' duration.

Future Event in Oakmont.

Invitations will go out today for a breakfast which Mrs. Orlando Metcalfe of Oakmont gives on Thursday next. The breakfast will be followed by cards. Mrs. Metcalfe's honor guests will be two visitors in Oakmont, Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Thayer. Mrs. Thayer is the house guest of Mrs. William McConway.

Plans Changed by Weather.

On account of the unfavorable weather of Thursday evening, the lawn fete, scheduled to take place on the grounds surrounding the home of G. F. Otis in West street, Montooth, was continued last evening. The affair was under the auspices of the Knoxville Protestant Episcopal church.

Going to Rockaway Beach.

George Brenner, a merchant of Pittsburgh, left yesterday for Rockaway Beach, where he will remain for a couple of weeks. Mr. Brenner will join his family who have been at Rockaway for some time past.

Society Notes.

Mrs. J. Allen Colby of Wilmington, Del., was the honor guest at a pretty luncheon given by Mrs. Simon T. Long at her home, No. 6506 Station street, East Liberty, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Among the guests were Mrs. G. Lindsay Gillespie, Mrs. Frank McGirr, Mrs. John McLeod of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Orlando Metcalf, Mrs. T. C. Lee, Mrs. H. S. Hall, Mrs. J. B. Johnston and Mrs. P. P. Tiers of Oakmont.

They will visit relatives and friends and seek pleasure at the seashore along the New England coast, going also into the states of Maine and New Hampshire.

"The speediest solution of the feud question down my way," said J. T. Hatfield, secretary of the Elkhorn Coal Company of Covington, Ky., last night at the Monongahela house, "is to divide Breathitt county into three parts and allot each part to the adjoining counties, Pike, Floyd and Letcher, destroying the clans and cliques by creating a new impetus. There is certainly much disorder in that county. Life is worth little as long as the feuds are allowed to exist. Gov. Beckham's part in the feuds has made many enemies for him in the Democracy in Kentucky. It has caused such a revulsion of feeling that I believe the state will go Republican at the next campaign." Mr. Hatfield said that the Carnegie free library at Covington will be completed within two months. The building is of pink marble and will be one of the finest in that state.

Many of the large industrial concerns in the Pittsburgh district are realizing more and more every year the importance of giving their employes a day off occasionally. The Westinghouse interests, perhaps, have taken the lead in this respect, although the Union Switch and Signal Company of Swissvale is not far behind. The employes of that vast establishment today will be given a holiday, so that they might go to Chester on the Pennhandle railroad, and arrangements have been made to move the picnickers in three special trains. Fares will be charged, enabling all classes of workmen to take advantage of the trip to the woods.

Travel to the west for August is expected to be very light. The fastest and best train of the Pennsylvania railroad, the Limited, which passes here every night bound for Chicago at 8 o'clock, has been the first to notice the decrease, although the full complement of the train is kept in service. Last night there were barely 25 passengers aboard the elegant train.

Mrs. Mary W. Mundorff and Mrs. E. W. Robinson of Punxsutawney are stopping at the Duquesne.

W. B. Rodgers, city attorney, went east last night on the Pennsylvania.

CLOSING PERFORMANCE.

Pain's Pompeii Will Be Seen Tonight for the Last Time in Pittsburgh.

Tonight will witness the last performance in this city of Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii." The production has had a most successful run in this city. The 10,000 seats provided have been packed to their capacity each night and much praise and approbation has been awarded this creation of Pyrotechnist Pain. Last night one of the great features, which created a sensation and widespread admiration, was a fire picture of Pope Pius X., which was viewed by thousands of Catholics and other denominations, who have a high regard for the beautiful and for the new pontiff.

The production was given here under the chaperonage of Pittsburgh lodge No. 11, B. P. O. E., and the antlered members have tonight invited their brother Elks from surrounding towns to witness the closing performance.

In addition to all the regular big features, the management has a number of fine reserve specimens of fireworks which will be exhibited tonight as farewell pieces, including several which will appeal to the taste of the evening. Reserved seats can be secured by application at Mellor's music store by those wishing to avoid the rush at the regular office of the show.

Mrs. Emmons, saved from an operation for Ovaritis, tells how she was cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so pleased with the results I obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for over five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

GIVE POOR MAN A CHANCE, ENGLISH VOTERS NOW CRY

Liberal Party Making Strenuous Efforts to Create Reforms in the Coming British Parliament Election.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Give the poor man a chance to get into parliament, will be one of the principal planks in the platform of the Liberal party, at the next general election. Already a campaign of education has been commenced and an appeal to the voters has been sent broadcast throughit the land to members of Liberal clubs. In the course of the appeal is this significant paragraph:

"Our method is to collect a sum of money sufficiently large to render such financial aid as may be necessary to enable constituencies to adopt, as their candidates, the men they think most likely to win. One of the results that may be expected from a return to Liberal politics is the reduction of those enormous election expenses which at present keep poor men out of parliament—but in order to bring that reform about, we must win the next general election."

It is said by those in a position to know that the Liberal program on this line goes much farther than the reduction of the election expenses and at the proper time a declaration will be made in favor of the payment of salaries to members of parliament. While England is conservative there is a growing feeling among the electorates, especially the poorer classes in favor of salaried M. P.s and it is the purpose of the Liberals to take advantage of this.

Under the system which has always prevailed, it has been necessary for parties representing the poorer classes when they are elected a member to provide for his support in case he has no fixed income.

Police Had Evidence Enough to Hold Broker Cowan in Big Bail.

HE WAS GOING TO EUROPE

Young Maryland Widow Claims He Had Kept $53,000 of Her Money—Cowan Has Made Over $200,000 in the Past Two Years.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.

Joseph Cowan, the youthful broker, was held under $10,000 bond today, charged with the larceny of $55,000 from Mrs. Blanche H. Smith, of Fort Henry, Md. Lawyers and detectives told how Cowan had sold out his business a week ago for $6,000 to Edward Slease of Pittsburgh, and that he had purchased tickets for himself and wife on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, which sails on Tuesday next.

"That is true," said Cowan with a smile. "I did sell out my business, and I did mean to sail for Europe on Tuesday. I mean to make an automobile tour to Paris and through France. I intended to be away three months. It was just my usual vacation, and I knew of nothing to prevent it. I never knew this charge was to be made against me. But I guess I will go over and have my vacation."

Cowan will not go to Europe in a hurry if the detectives and Vorhaus & Grossman, retained by Mrs. Smith to look after her interests, can prevent him. They say that Mrs. Smith, through a man named Dodge, the Baltimore agent for the firm, forwarded $80,000 in all to Cowan, and that she received $16,000 in return as net profits on investments.

Mrs. Smith, the detectives say, is only one of many who have lost money. Cowan, they say, has cleaned up at least $200,000 in the two years he has been in business. A banker and broker, and that Mrs. Smith, for one, has been after him for a year to get her money. Mrs. Smith, who is a young widow, remained seated in the rear room with one of her counsel, and took no part in the proceedings. While Cowan would not discuss the case today, he was not averse to talking about himself.

"I left school when I was 13 years old," he said, "and then spent three years in the country. I came back and went to work for Charles Head & Co., the brokers. I was secretary for H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil Company, for a while, and two years ago organized the firm of Joseph Cowan & Co. We did the second largest business of any firm on the Consolidated exchange.

CHURCH TREASURER DEFAULTS FOR $80,000

Leaves Boston for Canada and Writes Confession to Methodist Pastor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—In a letter written from Montreal to the pastor of his church in East Boston, Willard S. Allen, treasurer of the Preachers' Aid society of the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, confessed that he was a defaulter to the amount of more than $80,000 of the society's funds.

Mr. Allen has been treasurer of the society for 12 years, and clerk of the East Boston district court for 20 years, and for 16 years was a prominent member of the school committee of Boston. He left home about a week ago, without announcing his destination, and the first heard of him was the letter to the East Boston clergyman.

Mr. Allen said that he had lost the money in speculation. He requests the pastor to notify the members of the Allen family and the officers of the society of his confession.

CASE IS TURNED ON PROSECUTORS

Ten Women Held Who Accused a Neighbor of Being a "Common Scold."

SCORED BY A MAGISTRATE

Defendant's Attorney Also Declared the Accusation Was Brought by a Band of Back-Fence Monkey-Howlers and That His Client Was a Lady.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.

That it is dangerous to go before a magistrate of the law and make allegations against the character of any one without sufficient proof, was the lesson taught ten married women this afternoon by Magistrate Briggs.

Mrs. Sadie Hepwrth of Harmony street, near Federal, was the defendant, and ten neighbors the prosecutors. With the other nine women, Mrs. Mary Parker had a warrant sworn out for Mrs. Hepworth's arrest, charging her with being a "common scold."

"You are all a band of back-fence monkey howlers, goose and snake hissers," said counsel for the defense, turning several times to the prosecutors. "Your honor, I think we have sufficiently proved that this woman is a lady, and that her fair name has been slandered by these geese."

"I shall hold each of you under $400 bail for court to answer the charge of slander and false accusation," said Magistrate Briggs sternly to the ten women. "Be sure that you can prove a woman a common scold before you come before me again for a warrant."

There was a general rush for the clerk's desk to arrange the bail, some sending to their husbands' places of work to have "hubby get them out of the scrape."

CRUSADE FOR SANITARY REFORM IS CONTINUED

Leading Women of England Anxious to Aid the Sickly of Middle Class.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—As a result of statements made at the recent meeting of the British Medical association an investigation has been undertaken which shows that while the general rate of mortality in the kingdom has decreased within the past 40 years there has been an actual increase in the rate of infant mortality. The estimate is made that 60,000 children die annually in Great Britain whose lives might be saved if proper sanitary conditions were enforced.

Leading women philanthropists, including Lady Henry Somerset and the duchess of Sutherland, have taken an active interest in the investigation and will take part in the movement to bring about reforms which will be suggested to the government when the work of investigation shall have been finished.

While primarily the question has been one of children, the investigators have found much to criticise in the private hospitals for middle classes. It is pointed out that the arrangements in these places in many cases are inadequate for the practice of modern surgery, and that imperfectly trained and poorly paid nurses are the rule.

It is not improbable that a movement will be inaugurated for a general revision of the sanitary laws of the kingdom and the establishment of a strong and efficient department of public health clothed with ample powers to institute and insist on all necessary sanitary reforms and to have supervision of all hospitals, private and public.

English Police Take Property of Americans in Payment for Education Tax.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The police have seized several pieces of silverware belonging to the Rev. R. W. Farquhar, formerly of Portland, Oregon, and E. P. The silver will be sold by auction to satisfy the rates, amounting to a few shillings, which they refused to pay. The pieces include wedding gifts and church presents made to them in the United States.

FLAMES THREATENED CASH.

Fire in a Bank Caused by a Gas Explosion Might Have Been Costly.

Several thousand dollars in paper was in danger of total destruction yesterday as a result of an explosion of gas in the Workingman's Savings bank, Ohio street and Madison avenue, Allegheny. While workmen were frescoing the walls and ceiling of the bank one of them fell from a ladder, and in trying to save himself he pulled down a chandelier.

The escape of gas was not noticed by the men until one of them struck a match. An explosion followed and William Matking of No. 5228 Wittless street and Frank Andrews of No. 559 Morgan street were badly burned. They were removed to their homes in a carriage.

On the counters, just below the flaming gas, several thousand dollars in paper lay. The explosion was followed by a fire that drove everyone out of the building, but the flames were extinguished with small loss to the bank.

THE STOCK MARKET DULL AND LOWER

The Early Advance Did Not Hold, and Prices Closed Near the Lowest—Only Small Net Changes in the Local List.

By JOHN C. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday's New York stock market was something of a disappointment. At the opening there was a continuation of the advance that was in progress the night before, and the upward movement was stimulated by the strong and higher quotations received from London. The initial quotations, however, were generally the highest of the day, and by the end of the first hour profit-taking was again in order. From that time to the close the course of the market seemed to prove that the heavy buying which occurred Thursday afternoon was merely supporting orders, and that the supporters were feeding the stock out again as the market would take it. It also seemed to prove that the big shorts in the market had not been dismayed by the rally, and were putting out fresh lines. There was a marked falling off in the dealings, the transactions for the first two hours amounting to only 271,600 shares, and for the day a little over 550,000 shares, or just about half the total for the day before. The only encouraging feature about the dealings was the absence of disquieting rumors. The market did not lose all its gains, and the close, while near the lowest, was fairly steady.

The most prominent incident of the day was the sharp raid made upon Canadian Pacific. This stock has held relatively firmer than any other standard railroad stock on the list, and it has been quoted above the parity of all the other 5 per cent dividend-payers. The chief reason for this was that it was closely held. Its lowest price this year was 117¼, recorded on June 10, but shorts have been giving it a wide berth because of its scarcity in the loan crowd, where it has frequently commanded a premium for use. Yesterday, however, a concerted movement was made against the stock, and from the size of the blocks that were thrown upon the market it was thought that the famous pool which repelled all attacks in June when a large Toronto banking and brokerage house failed and when Canadian securities generally were under the hammer, was being forced to liquidate. The price broke from 122⅜ to 118, and the movement had a sympathetic effect upon the remainder of the list, but particularly upon Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, which broke from 49 to 42. Both stocks, however, made a sharp recovery. Canadian Pacific selling up to 119⅜ at the close. St. Paul declined from 178¾ to 186¼, and on the curb Northern Securities declined to 45. The heaviness in this group of stocks may have been influenced by the estimates of spring wheat in the three principal northwestern states, which ranged from 155,000,000 to 160,000,000 bushels, as against 185,000,000 bushels last year. The action of the wheat market, however, did not reflect any particular anxiety regarding the yield. Atchison lost less than the other grangers, fluctuating between 59 at the opening and 57⅜, the low point of the day, the close being at 58. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific each declined about 1½ per cent, and closed slightly above the lowest. Pennsylvania declined less than a point from 122 to 121⅛, and Baltimore & Ohio, after selling down from 81¼ to 79¾, recovered to 80. Reading was a very strong feature in the early dealings, advancing to 49, but it subsequently sold off to 47¼.

United States Steel was relatively the firmest of the industrials. The common opened ½ higher at 22¾, sold off to 21½, and recovered to 21⅝. The preferred also opened ½ higher at 70¼, declined to 68⅝, and recovered to 69¼. The dealings in both were smaller than for several days past. Amalgamated Copper broke 2 per cent in the early dealings from 40⅜ to 39¾, but later recovered to 40¾. Virginia-Carolina Chemical broke from 27¾ to 23¾, but recovered to 25 at the close. A report was current that a syndicate of banks and bankers had taken over the unsold balance of the $7,000,000 bonds of this company which two firms had undertaken to market when they were issued last year and that this new syndicate would make the necessary advances to meet the increasing business of the company pending the sale of securities. The remainder of the industrial list moved within narrow limits and closed fairly steady.

There was not so much guessing on today's bank statement. Forecasts of late have been so far out of the way during the past three or four weeks that they have lost their influence upon the market. During the week the banks have lost $8,600,000 through sub-treasury operations, but the receipts from the interior have cut the net loss down to less than $1,000,000. If there should be a considerable reduction in loans, the deposit liability would be reduced and surplus reserve increased. The surplus reserve, however, is now larger than at the corresponding season for two years past, call loan rates are down to a normal level, ranging yesterday from 3 to 2 per cent and closing at 1¾ per cent, and time loans are more freely offered at rates ranging from 4½ to 5½ per cent, according to collateral. Wall street is not just now much concerned about the outlook for the money market, but it is intensely interested in learning whether there are any more weak accounts to be liquidated.

The local stock market was dull and prices fluctuated within narrow limits yesterday. Westinghouse Electric advanced to 83, but later lost all the gain and declined to 81, closing at a net loss for the day of ½. Airbrake sold at 140. Manufacturers Light and Heat was the most active stock, nearly 1,000 shares changing hands at 32½ to 33, closing at 32⅜ bid. Ohio Fuel Supply was unchanged at 39¾, while Philadelphia Company declined to 38¼, but closed at 38½ bid. The steel stocks were quieter than for some days past. Crucible Steel preferred closed ½ per cent higher at 72½, while United States Steel preferred closed ⅝ lower at 69⅜ sales and bid. There were no transactions in Pittsburg Coal common all day, the stock being nominally quoted at 26⅜ bid, 27½ asked. The preferred was firmer, selling at 82½ and 83. River Coal preferred was lower, selling at 37¾, and closing offered at that price. The largest transactions in the banking group was the sale at the opening of a block of 100 shares Guarantee Title and Trust at 190, a drop of 10 per cent from the last previous sale. There was an immediate recovery to 200, but at the close the stock was offered at 198. Colonial Trust sold to the extent of 65 shares at 500, and later a small lot was offered at 497, but at the close there were no offerings under 500. American Trust was offered at 435 and closed without bid. Iron City Trust declined 2 per cent to 140, and Real Estate Trust declined 1 per cent to 270. The market closed dull but steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Pittsburgh Trust was higher in the bid price at 500, and there was no stock offered.

The last sale of a seat in the Pittsburgh stock exchange occurred last April and the price paid was $13,750. Yesterday seats were quoted at $12,000, $12,900 asked.

Messrs. George L. McFarlane, John W. Crawford and Humphries Miller, Pittsburgh stock exchange members who have been spending their vacation in Europe, will sail from London today for home. Messrs. W. J. Mustin and Robert A. Orr, two other members of the exchange, are still abroad. The coming week several members whose vacations were interrupted by the action of the market, will leave for their outings. The prospects are for a continuation of dull trading.

R. C. Hall was a considerable seller on the local board yesterday, his sales including 500 shares Manufacturers Light and Heat and 100 shares Guarantee Title and Trust.

A Pittsburgh banker who returned from New York this week said the report was current in Wall street that the pool in Canadian Pacific is likely to be forced to liquidate, and that this was thought to be the last of the weak spots in the market. The heavy selling of the stock was the feature of the market yesterday, but the insiders might sell the stock contained 100,000 shares, carried by New York and Montreal parties.

A block of $10,000 United States Steel new 5s changed hands at 78⅝ on the Pittsburgh board yesterday. Martin to Hoag. This was a decline of 1⅜ per cent from the last previous sale. Pittsburgh has been a considerable buyer of these bonds on the recent decline.

Commenting upon the course of the market yesterday a private wire message read: "The conclusion is gradually being arrived at that although there have been only about half a dozen open admissions of insolvency, there has been a great deal of helping both small and big firms, and that help was only accorded on the distinct understanding that the firms in question should liquidate as quickly as the market would allow. With this state of affairs before us, anything like a material advance is most unlikely."

It is estimated that London bought 85,000 shares stock in Wall street yesterday.

Factors and conditions that have heretofore shaped the course of the market are wholly disregarded at the present time. A year ago, with reports of wide spread crop troubles and conditions in the corn belt influenced the grangers and were reflected throughout the entire market. Monetary conditions were watched with anxiety, and views of bankers carried weight and influenced markets. Nowadays the vagaries of individual stocks, theories as to what houses are in trouble, the alleged financial condition of some individual trader or the machinations of some bear clique's mouthpiece sway sentiment, and natural conditions are ignored. The report of a railroad or industrial company shows unexampled earnings. The whispered rumor that it is trying to borrow money neutralizes it as a market factor. Artificial conditions prevail and sentiment reflects semi-demoralization, orders are rolling in and out, and over the overanadoving cause of it all is absolutely unknown. When prosperity begets panic it is time to stop theorizing."—New York Sun.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

At Boise, Idaho, payment of $20,000 was made on the Hecla Consolidated properties on Big creek, in the Thunder Mountain region. The payment was made by ex-Gov. Hunt, president of the Werdenhoff Company, to C. J. Werdenhoff, L. L. Jones of Warren, Jesse M. Jackson and J. Prindle Smith. J. Van Roper, who has financed the project, states that a wagon road will be built to the property this fall. It will leave the state road on the east fork of Salmon river, cross the mountain up Profile creek and across Big creek 30 miles.

Samples of ore from the Tonopah-Belcher Company's General Thomas group of mines out of Tonopah, Nev., that are exhibited in Salt Lake City, show some high values. One piece assays as much as 72 per cent lead, with 110 ounces of silver per ton, while another certifies to as many as 405 ounces of silver and 45 per cent lead, with as much as 11 per cent in the red metal.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Bingham & Eastern Mining Company in New Haven it was voted to reduce the amount of capital stock from $1,000,000 to $200,000, and to change the name of the company from the Bingham & Eastern Mining Company to that of the Bingham & Eastern Mines Company. The original Bingham & Eastern Company was incorporated May 18, 1896. The company owns a claim in Utah, and it now proposes to push the work on its mines.

COAL PROPERTY SOLD FOR $50,000

Erie Coal & Coke Company Buys Keystone Coal Works Near Butler.

DOWNTOWN BUYER IS KNOWN

Wabash Is Buying More Property in McKeesport—Activity in Timber and Coal Lands—Small Realty Transactions. Building Permits Issued in Two Cities.

Through the office of Black & Baird the Keystone coal works, 10 miles north of Butler, have been sold for $50,000. The purchaser is the Erie Coal & Coke Company, a new organization composed of capitalists from Pittsburgh, Somerset and Meyersdale. The property is near Hilliard station on the Bessemer & Erie railroad. Most of the coal, about 3,500 acres, is under leases, which the Erie company has bought. The coal is the regular Pittsburgh vein, eight feet thick, and all drift. Two tipples are included in the purchase. The company will spend $100,000 in putting in the most approved mining apparatus and building 70 miners' houses. It is expected to mine 1,000 tons of coal a day by January 1.

C. C. Mellor proves to have been the buyer of the Marie Verner property on the north side of First avenue, just above Cherry alley, which was sold Monday through the same brokers for $72,600. The lot is 80 feet square and has erected on it a three-story brick building now occupied by the Carey Roofing Company.

Wabash Deals in McKeesport.

McKeesport seems to be the center for mysterious transactions in real estate this summer, and just now its business men and property owners are puzzled not a little over purchases and options in Second avenue. A few days ago the Anderson-Scales property, 120x140 feet, on the north side of Second avenue, near Market street, was sold for $15,000. The deed was made out to a man in California, but the real buyer is Smith proxy, across the alley from this in the rear, was sold for $25,000. This deed was also made out to an outsider. The deals have been conducted very quietly and the secrecy maintained, together with the curious traffic that is being sought all along Second avenue, have forced the conclusion that the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company is the real buyer. Plans have been completed and surveys made, it is said, for a line from Clairton to McKeesport, following the Monongahela river. This is supposed to be a scheme of the West Belt Railroad Company, but the road would be used by the Wabash and would give that railroad access to the great freight yards of McKeesport, entering by the Wood mill and going on down by the immense new tube plant.

Timber and Coal Lands Active.

One line of real estate is showing a commendable activity in the face of the uniform dullness that has settled down upon city realty deals. This is the business in timber and coal lands. Brokers who make a specialty of these deals are busy with inquiries, and hardly a day passes that one or more deals is not announced through some Pittsburgh office. Lumber dealers of this city have within the last two months made very extensive purchases in West Virginia, Kentucky and Georgia. Big tracts of timber in New Mexico have been bought and are now being developed. The high prices of lumber the last few years and the increasing scarcity of good timber in the north and west are driving local firms farther south, where the virgin forests have not been cut down.

In coal the experience and profits of last winter have served to stimulate the demand, and more coal companies are being financed than for years. West Virginia and Kentucky are fertile fields for this class of deals also, as most of the coal is drift and easily mined. Hitherto the chief difficulty has been the scarcity of railroads, but the new lines now under construction are opening up vast tracts. The most important of these in Kentucky is the line of the Chesapeake & Ohio, which will extend up through the Big Sandy river from Catlettsburg to the Virginia state line and will furnish an outlet for the famous Elkhorn belt.

MANY VARIETIES OF FRUITS ARE ON SALE

Huckleberry Prices Advance. Better Peach Supply Expected.

While there is not any excess of any one kind of fruit arriving in the markets at present, there is a great variety, the lateness of some usually early descriptions causing them to linger until after the maturing of the later kinds. A few carries of berries arrived yesterday, both red and black, while a great many currants have been offered for sale during the week. Apples are in good supply, coming from different sections and of many varieties. A few cherries are still to be seen. Grapes are just beginning their season and the offerings are as yet but limited. Cantaloupes continue to arrive in fullness of quantities, and are being appreciated by consumers, as attested by the active selling. Watermelons are plentiful at reasonable prices. Blackberries are still to be had, and prices do not vary much. Huckleberries are showing signs of age, and fancies are less plentiful than they were, prices for desirable stock having advanced. Plums are now arriving in fair quantities, and are being sought after by consumers, but they are not yet abundant. Peaches are somewhat higher than at the opening of the week, still rule high. Dealers expect larger consignments during the coming week, when there should be an easier market. Tropical fruits hold their own in price, ruling figures yesterday being the same as on Thursday.

The only change made in vegetable quotations yesterday was in barrel onions, which are lower.

Hay remained steady, with receipts moderate, and old stock still very scarce. Oats maintained their position without further decline. Corn is steady as quoted. Millfeed unchanged. The market in all departments is quiet but fairly active.

There is no change in the flour situation, local prices remaining as last quoted. Throughout the country the condition of affairs is firm, although according to the report of the Northwestern Miller there was an increase in the Minneapolis output over grinding for the week for the present week. Rather more than half the mills were in operation. Sugar has manifested no feature through another week without change, and is steady as quoted. Coffee is quiet.

Butter and cheese are without feature. Eggs are a shade firmer. No change in quoted list. Poultry is steady, with the receipts fair.

BIG GASSER STRUCK IN OHIO WILL DO 10,000,000 CUBIC FEET

In the Raye Run district, in Washington county, O., G. M. Withington & Co. have drilled in their No. 2 on the J. Z. Holstein farm late the Big Injun, and have developed an enormous gas pressure. It is estimated to be good for 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. This is the second big gasser that has been drilled in on Raye Run. Some months ago the Raye Run Oil Company drilled in a test on the Campbell farm and got one of about the same capacity.

The Raye Run Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the L. S. Wells farm through the Big Lime, and has a show for a 25 or 30-barrel producer.

On the east side of the Folsom district, in Harrison county, W. Va., the South Penn Oil Company has completed its test on the Gordon farm into the Gordon and the well has made one flow. It has been shut down to move back the boiler. The same company has drilled in its No. 2 on the E. S. Stroup farm, Doddridge, and has a show of oil. No. 1 on the E. Higgins farm has been drilled through the Gordon and the hole stands full of fluid.

Near Cairo, Ritchie county, the Hope Natural Gas Company's No. 1 on the Thomas Showalter farm is holding up at 250 barrels a day. At Fairview, Marion county, the same company's No. 4 on the J. C. Brown farm and No. 9 on the P. B. Ahos farm, are holding up at 200 and 150 barrels a day respectively.

The Reserve Gas Company's test well on the Snyder Bros. farm is pumping 30 barrels a day.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its test on the J. P. Dennison 23 feet into the Wray sand has a very light show of oil.

In the Little Germany district, Marshall county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 8 on the Gertrude Stein farm through the Gordon and has a show for a small pumper.

North of Cairo, Ritchie county, the Hudson Oil Company has given its No. 22 on the Harkness tract a big shot and the well produced 120 barrels the ensuing 12 hours.

In the Whisky Run extension there are six wells ready with a production of 1,200 or more barrels a day. The Carter Oil Company's No. 5 on the J. F. Mehaney farm is the best of the lot, producing 175 barrels a day.

In the Graysville district, in the Ohio side, in Monroe county, Pranchot Bros. & Co. have completed No. 41 on the W. A. Delaplaine farm and have a 8-barrel well in the Keener sand. The Keener sand is 300 feet east of No. 56 on the same farm.

In the Barnesville district, Belmont county, the Ohio Fuel Supply Company has completed a second test on the Michael Creighton farm and has a 10-barrel well.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Prices are unchanged although there are predictions in certain quarters that next week may see an advance in cotton goods, on which buyers are insisting upon early delivery. This is one of the features of buying today. What is needed will be bought at asking prices, but buyers insist upon having prompt deliveries. It is the caution that stocks are broken in certain lines.

Wheat, Oats and Provisions Lower, With Corn Unchanged in Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Wheat had a sharp setback from the advance yesterday and the market ruled quiet the greater part of the session. Opening prices were steady, a shade decline at Paris, together with excellent harvest weather in the northwest, and September was off ½c to 1c at 73¼@73½c. There was quite general selling at the start, with some of the large commission houses and some local bears prominent on that side of the market, and after touching 72½c September rallied somewhat, but was weak to end 1c to ½c lower at 73¼c. Primary receipts were 900,000 bushels, against 1,036,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 1,257 cars, with contract grade of 125 cars, 15 of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 294 cars, against 187 cars last week and 796 cars a year ago.

Notwithstanding the weakness in wheat, corn takers held comparatively firm, but trading was of a small volume. The weather generally was more favorable for the growing crop, and the movement was large. Cash offers were strong, and but for the decline in wheat the market would have made a good advance. After selling between 52c and 53¼c, September closed unchanged from Thursday, at 52¾c. Primary receipts were 131 cars, 19 of contract grade.

Oats ruled fairly active, and with the support of commission houses and some of the local bulls the market held steady in spite of the weakness in wheat. Liberal shipments of contract oats was a help to prices. The close was steady, with September ¼c lower at 24½c, after ranging between 24¼c and 24¾c. Local receipts were 220 cars.

Provisions sold off sharply early in the day, due to offerings from outside holders and some selling by packers, but later a fair demand developed for hogs and the whole list responded to the upturn. Trading was quiet on the whole, September pork closed 20c lower at $13 27½, September lard was 2½c lower at $7 50@7 52½, and ribs were off 10@12½c at $7 85@7 87½.

Unclassified receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 120 cars; corn, 110 cars; oats, 215 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

MANY HILLS WILL MAKE AUTOS PANT

Some Hard Climbs on Eastern End of the Big Endurance Run.

SURVEYORS GO OVER ROUTE

Say That the Machines Which Make the New York to Pittsburgh Run Will Have Many Difficult Pieces of Road to Tackle.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.

American built automobiles, last month, demonstrated how slow they can go, but next month they will have ample opportunity to show whether or not they have the quality of endurance. Fully 100 of them will, on October 7 start from New York on an endurance run to Pittsburgh, about 850 miles.

The entire program and all the rules under which the machines will compete were arranged by the Association of the Automobile Manufacturers. No foreign cars will be allowed to compete. Above all else, the contest will be in no sense a race, and any competitor attempting to race will be eliminated at the finish just as completely as though he had not started a single car. There will be five or six classes, according to the price of the cars, and ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. One week will be consumed in the run, all cars stopping at appointed places over night. No pacemaking will be allowed.

A "guide car" will go over the course four hours in advance of the contesting cars to scatter confetti along the road, so that there can be no confusion at forks and cross roads. Henry Unwin, secretary of the Manufacturers' association and Charles H. Martin have just returned to New York after carefully surveying the course and they report that any car which reaches Pittsburgh in a seven days' run over the prescribed course will be worth all the money which its makers are asking for it. The surveyors travelled in an eight horse power machine and they did not stop once, they say, for repairs.

The first day's run will probably be to Pine Hill, N. Y., 135 miles. There is one hard climb this side of Peekskill, known as Nelson hill, where many a good machine has stalled. The roads from Kingston to West Hurley eight miles, are reported bad, but from West Hurley to Pine Hill an old macadam road in fair condition is met. Pine Hill offers good accommodations for the tourists over night.

The second day's run will likely be from Pine Hill to Binghamton, 110 miles. There are three hills, each nearly a mile long, and offering 18 per cent grades.

On the third day's run from Binghamton to Bath is proposed, about 90 miles. Belden hill is reached on this day, and here some cars will very likely meet their Waterloo. From Elmira to Bath the contestants will find roads which will remind them of the mud ways travelers used to talk about in the south before the Civil war.

From Bath to Buffalo, about 115 miles, probably the fourth day's run, the roads are reported to be rough.

The fifth day's run from Buffalo to Erie, 100 miles, is over a good dirt road. The sixth day's run from Erie to Cleveland will worry some of the small machines.

The seventh day's run from Cleveland to Pittsburgh, 140 miles, is reported easy, being over, for most of the distance, an old post road, which is kept up by the counties through which it passes.

VICTORY FOR AUTOISTS.

New York Court Decides the Whiz Wagons Need Not Carry Numbers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—The section of the Bailey automobile law requiring owners of automobiles to register with the secretary of state and display numbers on the backs of their machines was declared to be unconstitutional by Justices Olmsted, Mayer and Wyatt this morning. The judges also took occasion to express grave doubt as to the constitutionality of the section of the law which makes it incumbent upon the court to deprive a person convicted of violating an automobile regulations of his rights to operate an automobile for a certain period.

WHITE RIBBON WEARERS AGAIN TAKE OFFENSE

Didn't Care to Hear a Chautauquan Speaker Who Criticised Saloon Suppression.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 7.—There was another flurry in temperance circles today when Frederick Wiens spoke on "Legislative Aspects of the Liquor Problem." The sentiments of the lecturer were not quite pleasing to the white ribboners, many of whom left the amphitheater in a huff when Mr. Weins made remarks in defense of Mr. Robbins, the speaker who created such a furore by saying a good word for the saloonkeepers. Mr. Weins said in part:

"The complete suppression of the liquor traffic is an ideal that is incapable of realization. Experiences in certain parts of the country prove that drinking in saloons and the sale of liquor on Sundays can be stopped, but the closing of saloon simply means the transfer of the business to blind tigers, or to the drug stores or liquor is imported from the outside and consumed in private. The suppression of the saloon and not of the traffic is a very questionable benefit.

"It is absurd to contend that the government in enforcing practical police regulations is compromising with iniquity and that is better for the community to endure the evils of unregulated sales of liquor than to adopt a system of high license, with local option of prohibition in limited areas where it can be enforced. Where it is nominally, but not actually in force, the license fee is replaced by a fine, which a bar to further prosecution and the law becomes a farce."

Money of the Dead Left to the Living

Register George H. Stengel's force was kept busy yesterday filing wills. Among these was that of William Tibby, the pioneer glass manufacturer of Allegheny. He left 12 shares of stock in the firm of Tibby Brothers Company to William C. Tibby in trust for himself, Martha Jane Tibby, Hannah D. Covode and Elmira Tibby. To his widow, Elmira Tibby, he bequeathed his household goods, $1,500 per year due from his partners and the sum of $1,000 payable in annual installments. To William C. Tibby he left a house and lot to pay a debt. The will provides that if William C. Tibby does not want the house the debt is to be paid in cash taken from the estate. Clauses charging Martha Jane Tibby and Hannah D. Covode with advances of $8,000 and $3,000, respectively, are revoked by codicil. The residue of the estate is to be divided equally among the testator's children.

Ann Fauset divides a $40,250 estate among her children.

William C. McMillen, late of Scott township, makes the following bequests to the children of the testator: Hudson, $1,300; William Henry, $1,000; Walter Sidney, $1,100; Alice May, $1,000; Rosella McM., $1,000. The residue is to go to the testator's wife for life and at her death is to be divided in equal shares among their children.

The $300 estate of John Bauer is bequeathed to the widow, Margaretha Bauer.

Josiah F. Phillips left $1,000 of a $7,500 estate to Bessie M. Johnston and the residue goes to his wife and son in equal parts.

Ida B. Shaffer bequeathed an estate valued at $1,000 to Ainfield C. Shaffer.

Sabina Tierney, deceased, left an estate of $7,680 to her children.

The $7,000 estate of William Jachne is bequeathed to his widow, Etnilla Jachne.

Josephine Victoria, a widow, leaves improved property valued at $5,000 to her seven children. Her son Wenzel is to have one-third and the other children are to share the remaining two-thirds equally. Personal property valued at $1,500 is also left to the children. Wenzel Jirak, Jr., is named executor of the will.

Charlotte Leighton Clementson bequeathed to her husband, William A. Clementson, her entire estate, the amount of which is not stated.

James H. McClure leaves all his estate to his widow, Margaret W. McClure.

George Keim devised a $4,000 estate to his wife, Barbara Keim.

Conrad Knorr directs that his doctor bills and funeral expenses are to be paid and that his wife, Martha Knorr, is to receive the residue of his $475 estate.

Henry Newman left to his widow, Mattie Newman, an estate of $550.

Charles Arenth provides that his widow, Kate Arenth, shall receive all of his estate, which is valued at $5,000.

Wilhelmine Braun, deceased, left all of her property to her five children. The will provides that her daughters, Tillie and Bertha, are to receive her household goods. The estate is valued at $3,750.

Margaret M. J. Clark, late of Allegheny, named Anna M. Clark, eldest daughter of the testatrix, as executrix. All of the property of the deceased is left to the executrix.

Cora L. Trimble, late of McKeesport, left a $2,000 estate to her two children.

M. P. Toole, late of Pittsburgh, bequeathed a $500 estate to his mother, Honora Toole.

Rent Was Unsatisfactory

An affidavit of defense was filed in the suit of Tombaugh & Co. against William L. Smith. The defendant says that in January, 1903, he made arrangements with the plaintiff company by which he agreed to allow it 2½ per cent commission if they effected a exchange of his real estate, which he valued at $26,000, and which was unimproved. It then they submitted a proposition by which he was to exchange for the property of John R. Morrow, valued at $18,000, and the difference between the values of both properties, in cash. The Morrow property, the defendant says, has three sets of flats, each one being represented to him as earning a rental of $75 per month. He says he visited the property and was also told by the tenants that that was the rental. The defendant avers that after he leased the rental had been misrepresented, and was really $45. The discovery of the falsity of the representation, he says, led him to refuse to carry out the agreement.

Executions Issued.

These executions were issued: Weigle Bros. & Co. docks vs. W. H. Flint, $381 70; J. Kennedy Irwin vs. Charles Schmidt, $110 50; Mary M. Important Meeting of Pickle Men.

During the past week the managers of the various distributing branches of the great pickle firm of H. J. Heinz Company have been at Pittsburgh in convention for an exchange of ideas and the general discussion of business policies. These bright men to the number of about 30, who are now stopping at the Schenley, have been in session daily during the entire week at the general offices of the company on the North Side. This arrangement is in accordance with a custom of long standing by which the company calls its principal representatives together twice each year to aid in formulating plans for the promotion of its larger growth and the wider expansion of its business, and it is, no doubt, to the close harmony of its business family—thus brought about—that much of the wonderful success of the company is due.

WILL PROBE THE INDIANS' DANCE

If Scientist Is Guilty of Inciting Savage Revelry He Must Resign.

INVESTIGATIONS ARE ORDERED

Smithsonian Institute Also Will Ask Prof. Mooney to Explain His Connection With the Sun Dance in the Indian Territory.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.

Agents of the interior department in Oklahoma have decided to make a thorough investigation of the charges made by Superintendent White of the Cantonment school and Superintendent Seeger, of the Seeger colony school, against James Mooney of the bureau of ethnology and Prof. Dorsey of Chicago, in connection with the "sun dance," which was recently performed on the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations. Commissioner Jones of the Indian bureau, is at Atlantic City and Assistant Commissioner Toner, who is acting commissioner, has decided that in addition to the investigation which has been started by the bureau of ethnology, the Indian bureau should conduct an investigation on its own account.

"The charges against Mooney and Dorsey will be investigated by persons on the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservation," said Captain Toner today. "The Indian bureau will get all of the facts and then take action, if it is shown that the two scientists were responsible for the dance. There has been but one 'sun dance' in the southwest in the past 15 years, besides the one just reported.

"About a year ago some scientists induced Indians in Oklahoma to perform the dance. Officials of the government have done everything possible to prevent the dance, and any one who would deliberately pay the Indians to indulge in its brutality should be punished."

Chief Holmes of the bureau of ethnology, said today that Mooney would reply to the charges in a detailed statement to the secretary of the Smithsonian institution, of which the bureau of ethnology is a branch. It is understood that if he does not make a satisfactory explanation he will be asked to resign from the government service.

ELEVEN ULCERS

On One Limb Excruciating Pain Physicians Little Value.

CURED BY CUTICURA

"I wish to say that my mother has been a victim to ulcers from varicose veins for thirty-five years. Eleven of these terrible sores have existed at one time on the limb affected. Excruciating pain and intense suffering was endured with all sorts of remedies on trial and numberless physician's calls and prescriptions applied, but all practically with but little benefit. However, at last the remedial agent was found in Cuticura Ointment which surely proved its weight in gold, alleviating pain and causing healing processes to commence and a cure speedily effected.

"She has also used the Cuticura Ointment with marked benefit in erysipelas of the face and eczema. The Cuticura Soap has also established a record only as the best; cleansing, purifying and healing in its nature, having proved itself a most excellent and valuable auxiliary to the Cuticura Ointment. I would remark that this testimonial is entirely unsolicited, being a voluntary contribution for humanity's sake, and the commendation of the Cuticura Remedies to the fullest confidence, being satisfied of their purity, genuineness and almost miracles wrought."

March 16, 1898. H. L. MORSE, Cabot, Vt.

JUST 5 YEARS LATER

Mr. Morse Writes, March 4, 1903, that Mother Could Not Live Without Cuticura.

"Your letter of the 28th February received and will say in reply that my mother having used Cuticura Ointment for twenty years or more, and having used other remedies, has found that no other remedy will ease the pain and heal varicose ulcers like the Cuticura Remedies. Mother says she could not live without them."

H. L. MORSE.

No one ever deserts the Cuticura Soap, Ointment or Pills. Once used, always used. In fact they have become domesticated in every household they have entered.

What Dorothy Did

DOROTHY.

DOROTHY is going to Atlantic City on the $10 excursion next Thursday. No question about it. Her outfit's ready. And would you believe it, by watching Campbell's advertisements for a month Dorothy has actually saved enough to pay all the expenses of her two weeks' vacation.

DOROTHY saw some $12.50 Shirt Waist Suits advertised yesterday, by Campbell for $5.98 and bought one. ($6.52 saved.)

DOROTHY noticed in Campbell's Friday Bargain ad Thursday an item saying—choice of our entire line of Trimmed Hats for $1.48 and selected a $6.00 Shepherdess that conforms to her face most charmingly. ($4.52 saved.)

DOROTHY wanted a short, jaunty Silk Wrap. Campbell advertised $7.50 Peau de Soie Coats for $3.75. She grasped the happy chance and saved as much as she spent—$3.75.

DOROTHY needed some new Summer Shoes. The shifting of Campbell's Shoe Department enabled her to get a $3.50 pair of Oxfords for $2.50. (A dollar saved.)

DOROTHY bought two Shirt Waists, a Bathing Suit, a separate Skirt and Sun Umbrella at Campbell's and saved $6 more.

DOROTHY is a good judge of Lingerie. She saw some soiled Undermuslins offered by Campbell for 25c and bought five garments for $1.25, and got them laundered for 50c. The original price mark added up $3.10. ($1.35 saved.)

DOROTHY bought at Campbell's a Summer Corset for 35c, some Lisle Gloves for 19c, some Hosiery for 19c, an eligible Dress Suit Case for $1.25, some pretty Stocks for 15c each, a pearl Shirt Waist Set for 10c, and enough Toilet Articles of one kind and another, so that she was able to figure out a total saving of $2.50.

SUNSTROKE INSURANCE

When the summer's heat gets about 90 degrees, you are liable to be sunstruck any time you are out in the sun, unless you take the proper precautions. Several years ago, the writer of this, who has spent much of his life in the tropics, thought he was safe from sunstroke. One day he collapsed, remained unconscious for five hours, and at times his life was dispaired of. As a matter of fact, any person whose stomach and bowels are in bad shape in the summer time, is liable to be sunstruck in temperature that would be harmless under normal conditions. That's all there is to it. Stomach and bowels full of festering, fermenting refuse that forms acids and gases, raise the heat of the body and blood many degrees. Scientists have found that natives of the South Sea Islands, living on laxative fruit, bananas, cocoanuts, bread-fruit, have a temperature 20 degrees lower than that of white men who are careless about their food or their bowels. It has been found in years of experience, that a CASCARET Candy Cathartic taken at bed-time every night will keep the body clean and cool inside all day, and forms a safe and thoroughly reliable form of sunstroke insurance.

Cascarets Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c., 25c., 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C. C. C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York. 160
